TWO SUFFOCATE IN SHELBY FIRE

British Renew Attack on Italian Fleet

Bombers Raid Duce's Naval Taranto Base

Rome Describes Crippling of Half of Its Navy as 'Fantastic Report;' Fascist Air Force Stages Foray on Alexandria.

(By Associated Press)

ROME—British bomber formations, seeking out the seat of Italian naval power in an effort to deliver crippling blows, again attacked the strongly fortified fleet base at Taranto and raided the southern port of Crotone, the high command admitted today.

At the same time British announcements of the damaging of half of Italy's six battleships and two of her cruisers in a Monday night aerial attack were described as "fantastic."

On its own account the Italian air force was reported to have counter-attacked the British naval base at Alexandria, bombing a cruiser, and shot aerial torpedoes into a convoy in the eastern Mediterranean to sink one steamer and damage another.

(A British communique, describing the new raid on Taranto naval base said docks and harbors were hit in a "successful attack" Wednesday night.)

The Italian communique said "some damage was caused to dwellings three persons were killed and 12 injured."

The bombs at Crotone across the Gulf of Taranto, were said to have fallen in the harbor.

Wide land and air action on scattered fronts from Greece to the Sudan also were reported by the Italian communique.

Britain Gains Prestige By Raid

PACT: Molotov and Hitler Agree on New World Spheres

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, addressing munitions workers and army labor groups today, declared it was "a plutocratic, capitalistic England" dominated by "anti-social tendencies" that was waging war against "the German Socialistic state."

BY LOUIS P LOCHNER

BERLIN—(AP)—Adolf Hitler and Soviet Premier Molotov have agreed upon a Russian sphere of interest living generally between Japan's Far-Eastern sphere and Europe and Africa which Rome and Berlin have allotted to themselves sources usually in the know divulged today after Molotov had started for home.

With the exception of European Russia and Turkey all of Europe and Africa will stand under the leadership of the Axis creators, Germany and Italy, these persons said.

Official confirmation of this was unobtainable since the Wilhelmstrasse has made it plain that nothing will be said beyond this noon's communique, which stated that Germany and Russia have reached "a mutual accord on all important questions of interest to both.

Inquiries in quarters which always prove reliable on matters of foreign policy developed this picture however:

1. Russia will have her "grossraum," or vast space of domination, just as the Axis and Japan arranged to have theirs by the terms of the three-power pact they signed on Sept. 27.

2. This "Grossraum" will not be created at the expense of parties not involved in the present European conflict. In other words no further slice will be taken out of Finland nor will the Dardanelles be taken from Turkey provided she behaves in a matter not

ADVANCE: Greeks Mop Up As Bewildered Italians Flee

BULLETIN

ATHENS—(AP)—The Greek army was reported today to have launched a general offensive against the Italians along the entire northern frontier from the Ionian sea to the Jugoslav border.

(By United Press)

ATHENS—The war ministry said today that Greek troops, mopping up lost and aimlessly wandering Italian units in the Pindus mountains, had advanced into Albania and occupied several important heights.

Hundreds of Italian prisoners were arriving in Athens and Salonica.

Greek and British bombing planes continued devastating the Albanian coast while British planes flew across the Adriatic to bomb Bari, Italian port of embarkation for Albanian troops according to joint Greek and British communiques.

News of the destruction of Italian warships at Taranto by British airplanes caused wild rejoicing here and Greeks hoped that this victory, together with the Greek successes against Italian ground forces, would encourage Jugoslavia to defy the Axis powers.

According to today's communique the Italians still had the semblance of an army in the Pindus or central sector of the frontier but it was in aimless retreat and Greek units were cutting off whole squads.

In the south along the Albanian coast the Greeks were reported making local attacks without concerted resistance. In the north along the Jugoslav border, the Greeks were strongly entrenched and the sector was reported generally quiet.

STATION HERE

Navy To Establish Recruiting Post In Mansfield.

A permanent United States Naval recruiting station will be established at the Mansfield postoffice Nov. 25 naval recruiting officers announced today.

Need for increased personnel for the two-ocean navy and previous heavy enlistments from the Mansfield area were reasons given by the officers for establishing a permanent station here.

A number of file cabinets and other office equipment have already been purchased for the office which will be located in the basement of the postoffice building.

Naval recruiting officers will be here tomorrow and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week to interview recruits before the permanent office opens.

Last Concrete Being Poured On West Fourth Street Job

Workmen today were putting finishing touches on the concrete work on West Fourth street and Carl Stander, contractor predicted that the project would be completed on schedule Nov. 30.

Stander said the pouring of the center concrete strip would probably be completed today and that two or three small intersections would be finished tomorrow.

The work, he said, would finish the concrete work on the street, with the exception of curbing which has been installed to a point just west of Bowman street.

Meanwhile lines of brick was speeded up today as workmen passed Penn avenue on that part of the job.

Stander predicted that the street would be completed and open to traffic by the first of next month, pointing out that by the time the brick work reaches the point where new concrete is being laid there will have set sufficiently to allow lanes of brick to pass.

Stander said the city of Cleveland is still using the floor slab of a building which was destroyed by fire, as a base for brick being laid by persons living at the west section.

All cross streets have been opened to Penn avenue.

The $20,000 project was started the first week in July by the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company and included reconstruction of the street from North Diamond street to a point just east of Ansdale avenue.

Sponsored jointly by the city and state WPA labor was used by the contractor. The city's part of the cost was $2,000.

DEFEND EMPIRE

French Fleet Sails To Guard North African Colonies.

BERN, Switzerland —(AP)— The Petain Laval government at Vichy is taking urgent steps to defend its African empire against inroads from the Jesquithist Free French forces, parts of which diplomatic quarters believe are Unconfirmed reports reaching these sources said units of the French fleet had left Toulon and other Continental French bases for north African ports.

It could not be learned whether the fleet would make port in Algeria, Tunisia or Morocco, but it might take a number of British ships to keep it bottled up in the Mediterranean.

COUNTY DRAFT BOARDS GIVEN CALL FOR MEN

Districts 1 and 2 Asked For Three Each to Report at Fort Hayes Nov. 26.

LOOK TO VOLUNTEERS

Enlistments In District May Fill Quota, Eliminate Need of Draft Call.

The first call for six Richland county men under the selective service law to report Tuesday, Nov. 26, at Fort Hayes, Columbus, was issued today by Major General Gilson D. Light, state selective service director.

Three men each will be sent by draft boards 1 and 2 in Mansfield and Madison township. Board No. 3 including the rest of the county has not yet been called on to supply men.

With 16 volunteers already listed in the city and township, draft board clerks said the first quota of six men probably would be filled without having to draft any men.

Where enough eligible men can be drawn from the volunteers to meet the draft quota it will not be necessary to draft men, board clerks said. Questionnaires have gone out to most of the men who have enlisted and they will be classified and given physical examinations first.

Meanwhile questionnaires also have gone out to the men at the top of the registration lists who will be classified and ready for call if needed to meet the quota.

The No. 1 board has nine volunteers for the army and five for the navy, while board No. 2 has seven army volunteers and one navy enlistment. Board No. 3 has had only one enlistment and that board probably will be the first to draft men into service.

State selective service headquarters today requested 996 men from all sections of Ohio by Nov. 27. The call included three men from the No. 1 board in Ashland.

NIMRODS READY

Expect 4,000 To Start Out on Rabbit Hunt Tomorrow.

Tomorrow's the day when 4000 Richland county hunters will shoulder their guns and go out in quest of the elusive pheasant and rabbit.

But hunters counting on early morning hunting better check on the game laws because the season doesn't officially open until noon and game wardens will be on the job. According to County Game Protector C. I. Kimmel a number of hunters felt a pinch in their pocketbooks last year because they lacked this information.

Although word has been circulated that nimrods would have free access to Mohican state park, James Stevenson, park ranger, said today that no hunting will be tolerated in the reserve. Hunters caught violating the rule will be treated accordingly, he said.

Because hunters need not have gun stocks will be stopped by the high water gates on the way home this year, Don Wages, conservation commissioner, announced today. Last year the department abandoned the practice of stopping automobiles while gun wardens searched for excess bag limit.

Woman Dies as She Goes Back To Aid Man, 70

Five Others Escape Unhurt as Blaze Destroys Second Story of Home; Daughter of Victim Smells Smoke, Rouses Others.

By JOHN GRAY
(News-Journal Staff Correspondent)

SHELBY—William Brooker, 70-year-old Spanish American war veteran, and his would-be rescuer, Mrs. Emmett VanNess, 53, were suffocated when flames swept second floor rooms of the two-story VanNess home here early today.

Five other persons escaped from the burning dwelling after they had been aroused from their sleep by Mrs. Cora Perry, who smelled smoke at about 2 a. m. and saw flames leaping from an attic door.

Mrs. Perry, daughter of Mrs. VanNess, aroused her father, her sister, Virginia, 19, her two daughters, Ella May Perry, 17, and Ellene Perry, 18, and Brooker, a roomer in the VanNess home.

All fled outside in their night clothing except Brooker who had called to the others that he "would be down in a minute."

Believing that Brooker had returned to his room to save some personal possessions, the others waited for what they estimated was five minutes. Then Mrs. VanNess went into the house to see if Brooker needed help.

Shelby firemen arrived at about the same time. With the rooms in one section of the house already blazing, four of the firemen, Chief Eugene Schull, Firemen Harvey Evans, Ed Lysinger and Assistant Chief Jack Ward, went into the house under the cover of a hose stream.

Chief Schull said Brooker and Mrs. VanNess were both found on the floor of Brooker's smoke-filled bedroom. Neither had been burned.

They were quickly carried to the outside. Firemen worked for nearly an hour in the yard outside in unsuccessful efforts to revive them.

The blaze was extinguished an hour and a half later, leaving the second story of the seven-room frame house in ruins.

Chief Schull said the fire was caused by a defective chimney, probably starting in the attic walls and spreading to other upstairs rooms. He estimated damage at $1,200.

SNOW AND MORE COLD FORECAST

Mercury Drops To 21 In City Last Night; Millions of Turkeys Die In West.

Snow and more frigid blasts were due to hit the Mansfield area tonight and the weatherman said there was no hope of a return to normal temperatures before the first of next week.

The prolonged cold was expected to make Thanksgiving turkeys cost more for an estimated million of the big holiday birds were killed in the middle west by the cold. Prices of dressed turkeys were up from one and a half cents to two and a half cents a pound in Chicago today.

While Mansfield escaped the brunt of the cold wave, the mercury dropped to 21 degrees this morning and climbed only to 34 at noon. Yesterday's high was 35, and the 24-hour average was 28 as compared to the normal 42 degrees.

The forecast predicted partly cloudy and colder weather tonight and Friday in the Mansfield area with snow flurries probably tonight.

Southern Ohio was harder hit by the cold today than northern sections of the state. Dayton reported a reading of 19 degrees while it was 31 in Cleveland where the lake tempered the cold.

Bullitt Says Resignation Not Accepted By President.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— William C. Bullitt announced today that President Roosevelt had declined to accept his resignation as ambassador to France.

Bullitt issued a statement saying that he had expressed to the president a desire to resign last August and subquitted the resignation in writing on Nov. 7.

The ambassador said he had believed he could be of more service to the country if he were free to write and speak without restrictions of public office.

The statement said the president however expressed a wish that Bullitt should not resign and that was how the matter stood now.

GIRL DEMANDS RIGHT TO TAKE 'BOYS' COURSE'

State Authorities Agree She Can Take Instruction In Agriculture.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) It's a precedent-breaking year, Peggy Minnick said, when she marched up to the registrar's office at the Norman high school to enroll in vocational agriculture.

She is the first girl in the state to enroll in the course. E. F. Foreman, instructor, and school administrators were undecided at first whether to permit her to take the course. State education department authorities, however, told them the course was open to girls as well as to boys.

Peggy wants to study animal husbandry when she goes to college next year, so she enrolled to get some background on farming. Her first interest is livestock, particularly horses.

"That's natural," Peggy said. "My horse and I have ridden in rodeos and roundups from Texas to Madison Square Garden." Her father is an expert horseman and is owner of a big ranch in Texas.

Peggy has several horses and a starting herd of five registered Hereford cattle on a farm at the outskirts of Norman. These will take most of her "home work" time this school year.

She is going to trace the breed of her horse, Fanny, as her principal school project.

The 17-year-old high school senior is an experienced equestrian. She was queen of the Sooner Stampede at the national convention of Reserve Army Officers in Oklahoma City last summer. She has competed and won prizes in Oklahoma and Texas, and represented her father's ranch the Running-M, in riding events in Madison Square Garden.

Laughing and crying are virtually the same process physiologically.

Greeks Are No Sissies Even If They Wear Skirts

ATHENS (AP) The Greeks dress their soldiers differently on different occasions.

For ceremony, certain Greek army units are decked out in showy costumes. They can really fight but Greeks like to dance, too.

When there's a real military business to be taken care of, Greece can outfit members of its small standing army in serviceable uniforms and equip them with modern rifles. (Greece probably would run out of equipment if she called up all of her reserve forces, but her standing army is well equipped.)

The real trouble is Greece is lack of numbers. Despite some good equipment, the Greek army is so small as to compare with the forces of Italy and Germany about as the skirted soldiers compare with Italian or German infantrymen equipped for the field.

John Metaxas, premier of Greece since 1936, was trained as a soldier and is a military authority.

The Greeks, while they send merchant ships to all corners of the world, have a small and ineffective navy.

AIR CORPS OF ISLAND GROWS

Philippine Army Expanding Aerial Unit With Aid of United States.

MANILA — (U.P.) — The small Philippine army aircorps is at present being expanded with the approval and cooperation of the War Department in Washington and its personnel is undergoing training for wartime operations.

A new Philippine Army air base has been established at Camp Lahug, near Cebu City, while another air base will soon be established, probably at Camp Parang, Cotabato province, on Mindanao. Until recently the Army had only one air base, that at Zablan Field, outside Manila.

Although the high command pointed out the expansion was in accord with the Philippine defense program outlined in 1936 by General Douglas McArthur, Commonwealth military adviser, observers consider it significant in view of the present explosive Far Eastern situation.

The sixth observation squadron was moved from Clark Field, a United States army base in Pampanga, to the new base at Camp Lehug. The squadron has a complement of 12 planes and approximately 80 officers and enlisted men. The 7th observation squadron, formerly at Zablan Field, replaced the 6th squadron at Clark Field. The United States army commanding general at Fort Stotsenberg, near Clark Field, will have administration supervision over the 7th squadron, but tactical training and control of the unit will remain under Major Charles Backes, A. C., United States army chief of the Philippine army air corps.

The Philippine army air corps has a fleet of 41 airplanes, most of which are used for training purposes. The 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th squadrons of the air corps are all stationed at Zablan Field.

The air corps was organized on May 2, 1936. It started with three planes. Officers of the United States army contributed in a large measure to its development.

MOSCOW —(AP)— Blank spots on maps of the Far East have been filled in by expeditions which have completed charting the vast Asiatic territory of Russia.

Two-thirds of the Far East had been explored by topographers before the Bolshevik revolution of 1917. The All-Union Arctic Institute and a Comsomol aerial photographic expedition reported they have finished the work.

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Don't forget we're meeting the Matsonia tomorrow. That Norma's on board."

"Oh, lord!" he sighed. But immediately he brightened. "It's too good to be true that about this time tomorrow we'll be saying our 'I wills'!" he said, "and be off into the big tree country—on and on up the coat—"

As they turned in at the courthouse, she was smiling, but there were tears in her eyes.

Philip said the signing of the papers in a guardianship case would not delay them long. They went to a room upstairs, where Philip conferred with a stout elderly justice who never took his eyes from Jocelyn while they talked.

"I'm being married tomorrow; I'm leaving for Canada," she heard Philip said.

The justice used the telephone "If you'll get Judge Troward's signature on that, there won't be any trouble," he said helpfully. "We could put it through, then, without you. Isn't he your co-trustee?"

"He wouldn't be in his chambers now." Philip, who had brightened at the suggestion, looked discouraged again

"He's trying the Scudder case, across the hall here," the other man said.

"Oh, is that right? Maybe I could catch him at the recess What's the case?" Philip was hopeful again

"Murder case. Man killed his wife. Sick-lookin' little fellow that doesn't look as if he could hurt a rat. Why don't you walk in there, Phil, and just send that paper up to the desk? From what I hear, things are dragging along."

"I might wait for the recess. D'you want to wait here, Jocelyn?"

"I couldn't go with you, Phil? I've never been in a courtroom."

"It'll probably be dull," Philip warned her. "You'll probably hear a medical expert testifying as to the coagulation of blood, with charts and references. That'll go on for days."

"Oh, but Phil, I'd like just to see it!" she protested, her eyes bright.

"Well, come along then. Who's prosecuting, Judge?"

"District attorney, Matt himself. Want me to send a man in with you? It's apt to be packed, but I'll get you in the court door."

"Pleading guilty?"

"Pleading not guilty. Says he got out about midnight and was out of town entirely. Says some fellow walked in there and bashed her up and he found her that way. But it doesn't look any too good for him."

"They'd quarreled, hadn't they? Isn't that the case where the woman had told her neighbors that her husband was going to kill her someday? Didn't he run away?"

"He beat it. He's a weak, miserable-lookin' little fellow," said the judge. "Yes, sure he ran away. They only picked him up about a month ago: he'd changed his name, he was living in Carson City. The boys did a nice piece of work on that. Matt has him for first degree. They found the clothes, you know. He'd taken a suit with him — he was cool enough for that — and thrown what he was wearing over Dumbarton bridge. No, maybe 'twas the Golden Gate bridge. Anyway, they were all blood, and they were identified. They've got 'em in court. It's a pretty straight case, but he's got a good lawyer—he's putting up a fight. Charley," he concluded, addressing a court attendant who had been summoned by his bell, "take Mr. Fordyce and Miss—Britton? Thank you—take 'em over to Judge Troward's court, will you, and get 'em chairs?"

Jocelyn and Philip were admitted by the judge's door to a crowded courtroom. She found herself seated within the railing, only a few feet away from the raised dais upon which was the judge's long desk. At floor level, was the long table of the lawyers, littered with papers and articles of evidence, and surrounded with chairs. In these chairs a dozen men were seated. Close to the jury box a court stenographer tapped an almost noiseless stenotyper under a velvet cloth. The witness stand was empty at the moment; a passionately earnest young man was asking that a certain small axe, clotted still with dark stains, be thrown out as evidence.

The eyes of the courtroom audience, and the jury's eyes, had focused upon Philip and Jocelyn as they had been escorted in, and even the judge had given them a sharp glance over his spectacles. But now interest in the trial had been resumed, and Jocelyn felt less conspicuous, and could feel some of the satisfaction of the privileged spectator at a scene always thrilling and always packed with an intent audience.

"Phil, when do they bring the prisoner in?" she whispered.

Philip, with a little hint of a smile, jerked his head and Jocelyn caught an involuntary shallow breath. A man was sitting within five feet of her at the table, a quiet man whose profile she could see when he leaned to speak in whispers to the man next to his chair. Insignificant, with silky brown hair thinning and graying, and anxious thin freckled hands that were nervously knotted before him on the green baize of the table, wearing a cheap jacket, of shoddy brown material, that was the murderer! That was a man who could bash in the head of the sleeping woman he once had loved, and leave her to die while he made away to safety and obscurity. How must he feel as here in the court they unfolded the details of the drama one by one, reconstructed that terrible morning after a fight, displayed to his dull eyes the very nightgown, the unfortunate woman had been wearing, the garments he had worn as he escaped?

On the wall on the jury side of the court was a scroll with a diagram; the poor little rooms in San Jose avenue where this tragedy had taken place. Parlor, bedroom, kitchen; dark smudges that were blood trails crossing them; an eight-pointed star drawn where the collapsed form of the woman had been found by neighbors at six o'clock in the morning. She had been living then; she had been able to moan, to hammer on the wall, but when they had broken their way in she had not been coherent. Scudder had come in a few minutes later, and had seized the now dead body in his arms and cried and made a great scene. But when they had sent him to telephone from the drugstore for the police, had hastily stuffed some clothing into a bag, and had taken—the daughter had distinctly seen this — some money from a box, and had gone out, not to return. An hour had gone by, and then the women had notified other neighbors who had gotten the police to the scene.

The neighbors were here in court; a stout, comfortable-looking woman with a drabbled piece of cat fur about her neck over a figured print gown; a pretty, quick-spoken girl who remembered perfectly well that it was before Thanksgiving, because her mother had asked her brother to price a turkey, and they had heard their neighbors upstairs quarreling that evening, and had said it was awful to quarrel with Thanksgiving so near.

"There are lots of men in this very room that look more like murderers than he does, Phil. If they find him guilty will they hang him?"

"I believe Matt Phillips—that's Matt, the red-faced one, that's the district attorney, says he could hang ten men on the evidence."

"But if he's not guilty, then why would he run away?"

"That's, I suppose, the weakest point in his case," Phil said.

"But I would!" she confessed, and he smiled.

"If he'd come in, Phil, to find her that way, and realized that they'd been heard quarreling—"

"Come in from where? He was at home. The neighbors had heard them."

"Yes, but suppose he'd gone out—he must be trying to prove that he'd gone out, if he says he didn't do it. If he'd gone out, Phil, and walked about, walking off his mad, and then had come back, mightn't he have made off in sheer terror—"

"You're so adorable that I can't wait to walk off myself with you," Phil murmured, his lips close to her forehead. "You've cleared up this whole business of Norma's for me; I see it all now as it's going to be. I don't have to make terms with the skunk."

"Who's that, Phil?"

"That's the doctor they called in. They've just recalled him to confirm something in his evidence yesterday."

"Will they put him on the stand?"

"The prisoner? Probably. They probably have. I've not been following it. Wait a minute; I'll ask."

* * *

Philip waylaid one of the attendants, the man went away to question somebody else. He presently returned to murmur that the prisoner was to be recalled by the district attorney as the next witness.

"You're interested?" Phil asked glancing at her, pleased that she was.

"I'm fascinated. It's so terrible. One reads it in all the detective stories and murder books, but it's so awful when it's real. He wants so horribly to live—to walk out among men again and be interested in what he's going to have for lunch, and here he is, with a man each side of him, trapped, no getting away now from their questions and their locks and keys. Phil, mayn't we stay awhile and hear some more of it?"

"Of course we may! A little of it, anyway. I'll see Judge Troward in the recess."

"The trial won't be over then?"

"Oh no. It'll go on, perhaps for a week. And then, even if he's convicted he'll have a right to appeal, Jocelyn, so don't break your heart over him."

RECIPES DEMONSTRATED AT 1ST SESSION OF FOOD INSTITUTE

Following are the recipes demonstrated by Miss Louise McFarland, food lecturer, and Miss Pauline Schofield, assistant, yesterday at the Gasco Food Institute at the Ohio theater.

Neck Roll Roast.

3 to 4 lb. neck roll
Salt and pepper.

Ask dealer to make a roll from a piece of neck meat and tie it securely. To prepare the beef, wipe off with damp cloth. Rub with salt and pepper and place in shallow pan, uncovered, without water. Roast at 325 degrees, allowing 40 minutes per lb.

Braised Short Ribs.

3 to 4 lb. short ribs of beef
Salt
Pepper
Carrots
Onions
Potatoes

Wipe with a damp cloth, season with salt and pepper and brown in a little fat in skillet. Transfer to trivert in gallon bucket, add 1 C. water to meat drippings in skillet and pour over meat in bucket. Place the lid and allow to steam on the simmer burner for 1 hour. Remove cover, and diced vegetables, replace cover and continue cooking on simmer burner for 1 hr.

Self Layering Fruit Salad.

2 pkg. flavored gelatin
2 C. fruit (floater)
2 C. sliced fruit (sinker)

Pour dissolved gelatine into loaf mold, filling ⅔ full. Add sliced, drained fruit (sinker), distributing it over entire surface; then add sliced fruit (floater). Chill in gas refrigerator until firm. Unmold and slice into servings. Serve plain, or garnish with whipped cream mayonnaise.

NOTE: Any flavor gelatine may be used with choice of fruit using half fruits of "sinker" type and half foods of "floater" type.

Sinkers—Canned apricots, berries, cherries, pears, peaches, pineapple, grapes, cooked prunes.

Floaters—Diced apple, sliced banana, sliced oranges, grapefruit, fresh sliced peaches, pears and strawberries, broken nut meats, marshmallows.

Crouton Dressing.

4 C. stale bread cubes
¼ to ½ C. butter
3 Tbsp. chopped onion
¾ C. water
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
½ C. chopped stuffed olives
1 C. chopped celery

Heat fat in skillet, add bread cut in ½ inch cubes, stir constantly and cook until bread is toasted to a delicate brown. (Bread can be browned in the oven or in the broiler.) Add onion, celery, salt, pepper, water and heat thoroughly. Remove from fire, add olives. Taste. Baste with broth from roast meat. Place in shallow pan and bake along with meat for last half hour.

Dried Beef Rolls.

Soak dried beef in warm water for 5 minutes if it is too salty. Roll pineapple sticks in slice of beef and brush with melted butter. Place on preheated broiler tray and broil two to three inches from flame at 350 degrees.

Cottage Cheese Salad.

1 pickled egg
½ C. cottage cheese
Salad greens
Dressing

Place mound of cottage cheese (seasoned to taste) into a lettuce cup on salad plate. Arrange a half circle of pickled egg slices in front of lettuce cup. Garnish lettuce cup with other greens. Serve with dressing. Serves 1. To make pickled egg: Place hard-cooked eggs in liquid from pickled beets and allow to stand for several hours.

Head Lettuce With Beet Dressing.

1 head lettuce
1 cooked beet, chopped
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
French dressing

Cut lettuce into four portions and serve with French Dressing to which has been added chopped beet and hardcooked egg.

Fruit Pie Alaskan.

1 Tbsp. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
½ C. sugar
2 C. shredded pineapple
6 Tbsp. sugar
1 pt. vanilla ice cream
3 egg whites
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Mix together the cornstarch, salt and C. sugar. Add the pineapple and cook until clear and slightly thickened, stirring constantly (about 5 minutes.) Cool

REVERE WARE

At the 1941 Gasco Food Institute

The Gift that KEEPS ON GIVING!

- Give a lifetime set of the famous Revere Copper Clad Stainless Steel Ware to her this year. They're the finest of all utensils —copper is clad on the outside bottom of these solid stainless steel utensils, so you have the sanitation of stainless steel where there is food and the fast heat conductivity of copper where there is flame.

No replacements are ever necessary—Revere Ware is truly a gift that keeps on giving.

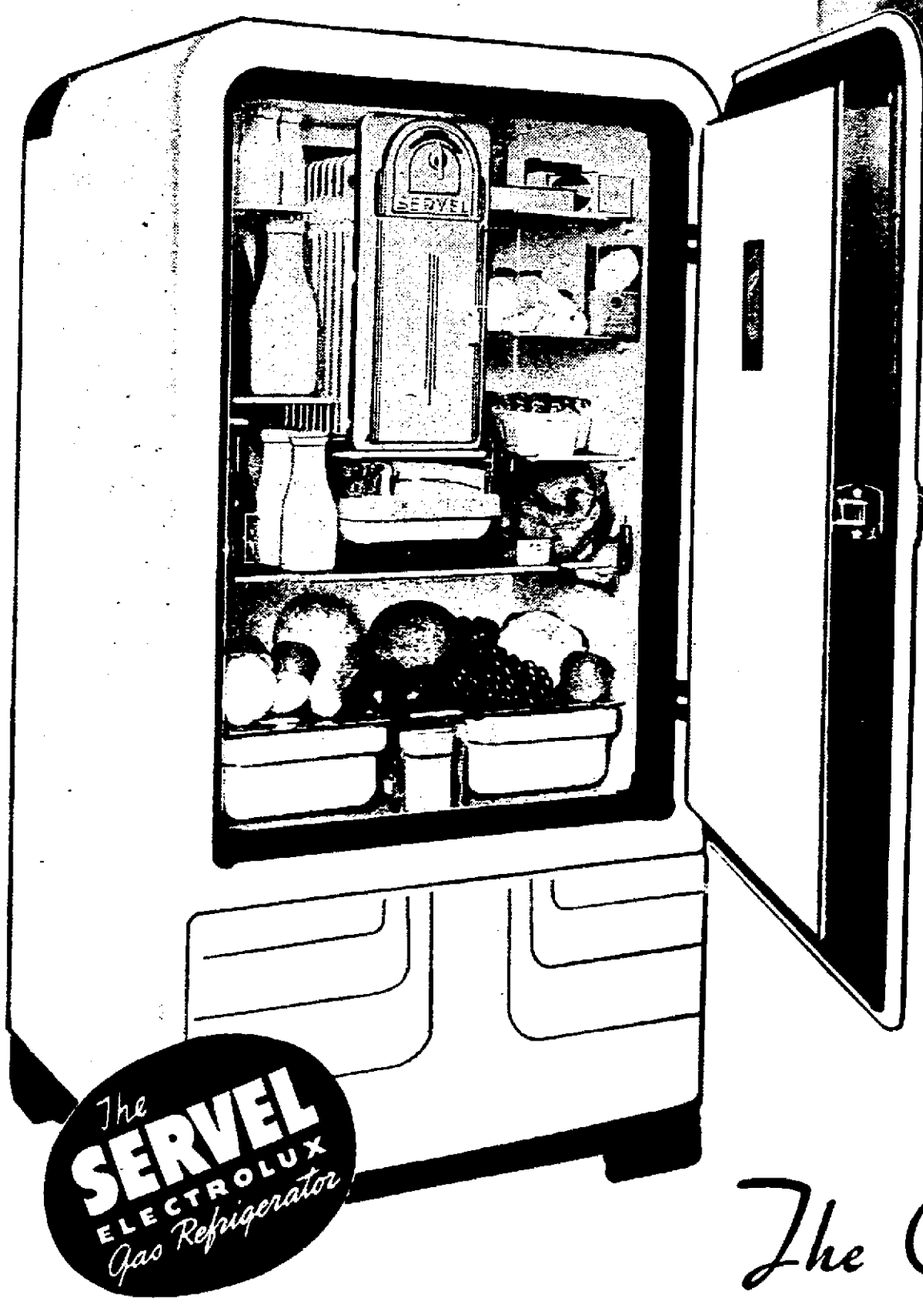
Plenty Of Action

(BUT NOT ONE MOVING PART IN ITS FREEZING SYSTEM)

Yes, you'll see plenty of action by the Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator at the 1941 Gasco Food Institute. With its assistance, dish after dish like those delicious delicacies pictured here, will be prepared. It safely guards meats and vegetables used at the Institute, too. Yet, it never makes a sound during the entire program because it freezes without moving parts to wear or make noise.



The SERVEL ELECTROLUX Gas Refrigerator

Save With Silence In Your Home

The silence of gas refrigeration means savings to you in three important ways. You save on upkeep because there are no moving parts in the freezing system of a gas refrigerator to wear out or require costly repairs. You can save on food costs because the constant cold of gas refrigeration keeps foods fresher for longer periods of time. And, you save on operating expense because a tiny gas flame does all the work at a cost of less than 2 cents a day. These savings make it possible for you to install a new Servel Electrolux gas refrigerator in your kitchen now and pay for it out of the savings it will make for you. See the new Servel Electrolux models now.

and spread over the bottom and sides of the pie shell. Pack the ice cream over the fruit mixture. To make meringue: Beat the egg whites until stiff, add the sugar gradually and beat until it stands in peaks. Spread meringue over the top making sure there are no air holes. Place in preheated broiler compartment to brown quickly. Serves 8. (Other fruits may be used instead of pineapple.)

To make pie shell use: 1½ C. flour, ½ C. shortening, ½ tps. salt, ¾ Tbsp. water.

Apple Sauce Souffle.

2½ C. or 1 No. 2 can apple sauce
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ C. sugar
3 egg whites
2 Tbsp. shredded almonds

Combine the apple sauce with the seasonings and the sugar. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold into the apple sauce. Put into a buttered baking dish and sprinkle the top with the almonds. Place in a shallow pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 50 minutes until firm. Serve with custard sauce or whipped cream. Serves 8.

Chocolate Popcorn.

2 C. sugar
1 sq. butter chocolate
½ C. evaporated milk
⅛ C. water
1 Tbsp. butter
½ tsp. vanilla
1 qt. freshly popped corn

Mix sugar, chocolate, evaporated milk, water and butter in saucepan. Cook slowly, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil until the mixture will form a firm ball when tested in cold water. (248 degrees). Remove from fire, add vanilla, and pour over the corn while hot, stirring until al the kernels are chocolate covered. Let stand until cold.

Graham Cracker Cake.

½ C. shortening
⅔ C. sugar
2 eggs, separated
⅔ lb. graham crackers
1 C. milk
3 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon

Crush crackers fine and blend with baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Mix cake in usual way, creaming well, then add alternately dry crumbs and milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites last, turn into 2 greased 8-inch layer pans and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. (NOTE: 33 small or 28 large crackers makes ⅔ lb. or 3¼ C.) Decorate with sliced bananas between layers and cover with butter cream frosting.

Poppettes.

½ C. peanut butter
4 Tbsp. honey
Crumbled popped corn
Toothpicks.

Mix peanut butter and honey to a smooth consistency. Gradually add crumbled corn until it can be easily formed into small balls. Place on the end of a toothpick. Chill and serve immediately.

MAKE PAGE'S MILK

a daily habit . . .

Once you know all the facts about Page's Milk—our finest and most economical food—you will see the importance of making milk a daily health habit. Page's Milk is good for every member of the family, young and old alike. So use it generously.

1. One quart of fresh milk contains as much calcium as 21 lbs. of meat.

2. One quart of fresh milk contains as much phosphorus as 12 eggs.

3. Fresh milk costs much less than other foods that have the same health value.

4. Fresh milk is rich in health-promoting vitamins.

ORDINANCE NO. 40-198.

By MR. KUTSCHALL

An Ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Lawnsdale Avenue from McPherson Street to Burns Street by the construction of an S-inch sanitary sewer therein and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring.

Sec. 1. That it is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Lawnsdale Avenue from McPherson Street to Burns Street by the construction of an S-inch sanitary sewer therein, in accordance with Resolution No. 40-171, passed October 1, 1940 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after completion of the proposed improvement.

Sec. 3. That the whole cost of said improvement less one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield Ohio

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Lawnsdale Avenue as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield Ohio in denominations of from 50 to 1,000 dollars each, payable in from one to three years, and bearing interest at the same rate as to be borne by the bonds to be issued therefor

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield Ohio the cost thereof to-wit: $200 to be taken from Fund 4-4-20 of the General Fund

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of its cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above stated. All the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Lawnsdale Avenue between McPherson Street and Burns Street

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the proceeds thereof together with the moneys [illegible] the cash payments [illegible] shall be placed [illegible] and the same [illegible] shall be [illegible] of the [illegible] bonds [illegible]

DIES ON STREET

Knox County Woman Stricken While In Columbus.

FREDERICKTOWN — Stricken while walking alone in downtown Columbus Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Zoa R. Levering, 67, of Waterford, Knox county, died before help could be summoned.

The body was identified by a card in Mrs. Levering's purse. Police reached relatives at Waterford through a radio broadcast to Mt. Vernon authorities who contacted Mrs Levering's sister, Mrs. Ettie Stillwell.

Mrs. Levering was visiting a sister, Mrs. Stella Spanger, in Columbus and was on a shopping trip when she collapsed on the sidewalk. Cause of her death was not learned.

The body was removed to the Meredith Funeral home in Fredericktown. Funeral arrangements were incomplete today.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Esther Wilson of Columbus and Mrs. Chester Day of Clarksburg, W. Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. Stillwell; three brothers, Frank Kirby of Mt. Vernon and Garfield and Bunn Kirby of Fredericktown and three grandchildren.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1940.

Economy-minded partisans have already thought to lay aside their campaign buttons until 1944—just on a chance.

With colder weather coming on, repaving of West Fourth street will probably not progress as rapidly as during the past six months.

Completed last July, Tacoma's six-million dollar New Deal bridge, of experimental design, has collapsed—and it has been decided to try something else.

Explosions Arouse Suspicions

WITH long memories carrying back to the frequency of explosions in munition factories in this country before the World war, more than coincidence is naturally suspected in the three blasts which occurred within a 50-minute period last Tuesday.

While plants devoted to the manufacture of explosives are peculiarly liable to accidental destruction, they are also rather easy victims of sabotage, and it is against such danger that every possible safeguard must be set up as quickly as possible.

Because of its defense program and aid to Great Britain, the United States is obviously the target of whatever subversive activities can be carried on here by agents of totalitarian powers and their hirelings in this country.

Expenditures of billions of dollars for armament and a draft of manpower for military service will count for little if the country is so honeycombed with alien enemies that saboteurs of industry can tear down defenses as rapidly as they are built up.

The tolerance and freedom of action ordinarily accorded alien agents and agitators in the United States cannot be safely continued under present conditions. The safety of this nation is more important than attempting to remain hospitable to persons bent on its destruction.

Why Greeks Fight Better

GREECE has shown astonishing courage and energy in this war because it is defending its own liberties and its heart is in the struggle. The Italians, with their vastly superior power, have not been doing well because their hearts are not in it. After making allowances for the difficulty of terrain and other factors, this seems to be the situation so far.

It has been said by military experts that the Italians are excellent soldiers when well led in a popular cause. Apparently they have not been well led now, and certainly their cause is not popular.

The Italian people have no quarrel with Greece and little desire for conquest at their neighbor's expense. They are fighting the Greeks merely because they are ordered to do so by a dictator. And so far, the Greeks have resisted them in the same spirit with which, long ago, they resisted the powerful forces of a Persian dictator.

Ordinance Forbids Street Ballyhoo

FEW CITIES permit the disturbance created by loudspeaker announcements in front of stores or transported through business and residence streets.

In Mansfield this subject is covered by an ordinance that reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person to ring a bell or gong, to use a phonograph or other instrument for producing or reproducing sounds, to use loud or boisterous language, or any unusual noise whatever to advertise goods, wares or merchandise for sale, either at auction or in any other manner, or by any such means advertise any show, theater, exhibition or entertainment, whereby the public peace and quiet is disturbed." A fine of from one to fifty dollars is specified for violations.

While the ordinance, when passed, designated this as an "offense against public peace," it might now be fairly classed among traffic safety measures, as blaring loud speakers tend to distract the attention of motorists in the vicinity as well as disturbing "public peace and quiet."

Airplane Speedier Than Bullet

AS THE FEVERISH QUEST for aerial speed continues, the airplane industry seems to have reached a goal long sought. It is an epochal achievement. Jack Knight, a veteran America air official, says an airplane has been created that will outrun a bullet. This is the Bell Aircobra, so named for its striking power, which in a recent test flight attained a speed of 520 miles an hour. It will dive much faster than that.

Hostile bullets fired at such a plane from the rear when it was in full flight couldn't do much damage, if any. Theoretically there would be a point at which a flyer could reach out his hand, catch the bullets and put them in his pocket, although it might be difficult in practice.

On the other hand, bullets or shells fired at the swift plane from in front might have twice as much force or penetrating power as if they were fired at a stationary target.

Independent Stores Gain

THOSE who argue that independent stores are being slowly destroyed by chain competition are given refutation in the official figures.

HE'S THROWN EVERYONE WHO EVER TRIED IT

Listen World!

Keep an Adventure

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT'S JUST another one of those letters. Hundreds of them a week. He isn't interested in her any more. How can he treat her so when she's been a good wife for eight years? "Never had a thought outside her home and husband." Always been there when he wanted her. Never argued or nagged. Lived only for him. Hasn't even tried to have a life of her own.

And there, if she but knew it, is the secret of his indifference. She was an adventure when he courted her. She was new and mysterious and unexpected. He wasn't sure of her. He didn't know what she'd do next. She had a life of her own, then—a personality of her own. And so, because she was outside him, because she had strange qualities, she tantalized and stimulated him.

She really enlarged his life and he coveted her because she did.

Of course, he didn't realize that was why he coveted her. He just called it "love." Like most of us he knew nothing of the real nature of love. But that was the real secret of her allure and power. She was different.

Then she married him and stopped being herself. She stopped trying to think differently, act differently. She bent all her energies to being a part of him, to doing things the way he liked them, to becoming his shadow, his echo. What happened? You know what happened. It always happens.

Little by little the mystery dropped from her and the charm faded. She became familiar—tiresome. He was bored and showed it. She couldn't understand. Wasn't she doing everything possible to please him? Then why wasn't he satisfied? Why was he so cold? When she cried and reproached him—his indifference turned to dislike. He had a queer feeling of resentment, as though she'd failed him—cheated him.

She had!

He married her because she was one thing. She turned out to be quite another. He married her because she was Herself—a different self with strange, alluring qualities. Being another, different self she brought new interests and conflicts and adventures into his life and enlarged it.

And now she is no longer herself. She is only a tiresome repetition of himself. He doesn't want an echo or a shadow.

He wants an adventure. But she has deserted herself. She is no longer an adventure for herself. And so she is no longer an adventure for him.

That's why so many marriages fail. That's also why many individual lives fail.

Why are some people popular and powerful? That's why. They're different. And they treasure and develop that difference. They keep themselves an adventure. And they stimulate and enlarge other lives because they are an adventure.

We are some of the most considerate, hard-working people ignored? That's also why. They give nothing new to life because they do not try to be anything new. They are nothing in themselves and so they mean nothing to the other fellow. Be yourself. That's your most important duty to yourself and to [illegible]

Join the Red Cross

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

Do you hear the calling of the Roll
Across the world today?
Does it strike a chord deep in your soul
To turn you from your play?

There are hungry children crying,
That a war made fatherless.
There are soldiers, sick and dying,
Where the feet of tyrants press.

Do you hear the voice of the Red Cross
Entreating you to join?
The sorrowful are healed of loss
By your bright golden coin!

There are mothers who are weeping
For the sons they cannot find.
There are trysts we must be keeping
With the wounded and the blind.

Do you answer when the Roll calls you
To join with Mercy's band?
Do you long for something fine to do
For your beloved land?

There is one way of preserving
Liberty, and you can sway
Others to the cause by serving?

"Why Is It a Nightmare?"

Hobgoblins, bogies, demons—the substance of them is gone, but their shadows linger on, particularly in our language, where many a word conceals in its syllables a relic of ancient beliefs and superstitions.

For example, "nightmare," whose appearance is deceptive; that is to say, it has nothing to do with a horse.

"Mare" here is from the Anglo-Saxon mara, incubus or fiend.

Unaware of the impish pranks played upon us by jumpy nerves or improper diet, our progenitors of the distant past regarded with terror the incubus, because while they slept it would sit on their chests, suck the breath from their nostrils so that they suffocated, and otherwise oppress them.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Big Things Expected of Wallace In Spreading Good-Neighbor Idea

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—For about 160 years, the vice-president of the United States has been either a pure figure-head or else a trouble-maker in the family of his chief, the president.

Tom Marshall, vice-president under Woodrow Wilson, is remembered only for his remark: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Charles G. Dawes, vice-president under Coolidge, became famous when his alarm clock allegedly failed to go off and he arrived at the capitol too late to change a tie vote.

Charley Curtis will only be remembered because of his social war to place his half-sister ahead of Alice Longworth at dinner. And Jack Garner will go down in history because of his private refrigerator and his covert opposition to Roosevelt.

None of these vice-presidents was an active worker for the head of his administration; many of them deliberately hindered it.

Now, however, for the first time in recent history, we will have a vice-president who, instead of being a sore-thumb, will be a right hand of the president. Wallace was trained under Roosevelt and can be counted upon to be a great asset, not a deterrent.

It is not supposed to be known yet, but already Wallace has discussed ideas with the president whereby he will work on three important problems. They are:

1. To act as liaison officer between the White house and congress. This is the most important job of all.
2. To act as a sort of ambassador-at-large in cementing Good Neighbor relations between the United States and Latin America, especially where congressional affairs are concerned.
3. To formulate plans for shifting the nation's industrial economy from armament to a normal basis, after the war is over.

Wallace Studies Spanish.

THESE plans are not casual gestures; Wallace is very serious about them. Regarding the Good Neighbor program, for instance, he has been studying Spanish for months, and soon will visit Costa Rica, Mexico and Panama, in order to polish his Spanish further.

And regarding plans for shifting the nation's economy to a peace-time basis when the war is over, Wallace already has asked two advisers to draw up recommendations on this, particularly a plan to decentralize overcrowded industrial centers by a nation-wide low-cost housing program.

Aside from these, however, one thing is certain. Henry Wallace will not confine himself to calling the senate to order at 12 o'clock noon. He will be the most hard-working gentleman to occupy the vice-presidency for many, many years.

Japanese Ambassador.

ADMIRAL NAMURA, who is expected to be the new Japanese ambassador to the United States, served for many years as naval attache in Washington, where he became a genuine friend of U. S. naval officers. He was realistic, hard-boiled, but a genuine friend. Also he had a forthright sense of humor.

One illustration he gave of U. S.-Japanese relations is important to remember now. It shows what the Japanese think of us—perhaps with some justice.

"You in the United States," said Admiral Namura, "have been brought up on beauty rest mattresses. You have gramophones, radio, automobiles, plenty of good food. You don't want to fight.

"But in Japan, we have no beauty rest mattresses. To our peasants, a plain board is luxury to sleep on, while food in the barracks usually is better than that which a soldier gets at home. So our people are tough, your people are soft. That's why you won't fight."

Admiral Namura was referring not to a possible Japanese attack against the United States, but to the possibility that the United States might fight in the far eastern part of the Pacific to protect the Philippines or parts of China.

Admiral Namura, forthright, friendly, and honest, may find a different nation facing him today. However, his reports to Tokyo should be a big aid in helping Japan and the United States to avoid rows, and really understand each other.

More G-Men.

ALONG with the speed-up in production of airplanes and tanks, there is a much less-heralded speed-up in the production of G-men.

J. Edgar Hoover is now turning out special agents of the FBI at the phenomenal rate of 40 a week. The training course has been cut down from 15 weeks to seven weeks, but the work is more intensive. And according to Hoover, mass production brings no decrease in quality.

Formerly, the Federal Bureau of Investigation had only 900 special agents, but a recent congressional authorization boosted the figure to 1,500. Hoover now has almost attained that mark, with 1,340 trained and 160 more to be produced.

One man who graduates from the FBI school represents 1,000 who have tried for admission and failed. "Anybody who has read Sherlock Holmes," says Hoover, "thinks he can be a special agent. We get all kinds. Even psychics, and people who think they can solve crimes by looking at the stars."

Merry-Go-Round.

J. EDGAR HOOVER reads four comics faithfully every day—Dick Tracy, Smilin' Jack, Our Boarding House, and Hap Hopper. . . . A young man trying to get work with the state department listed as his qualification that he had delivered mail from the Berkeley (Calif.) postoffice during six Christmas holiday periods. . . . Everybody who enters Justice Murphy's chambers in the supreme court is asked by his secretary to sign a guest book. . . . U. S. army officers were wide-eyed over General Calixto Carias of Honduras, when he was visiting Detroit. He has only one arm. Nevertheless, he shot a Garand semi-automatic rifle and drove an armored truck up a 45-degree grade. . . . When a ghoster writes a speech for Nelson Rockefeller, Nelson rewrites it completely, saying: "That's not the way I talk." . . . Navy Secretary Knox's private office has been refurnished with a set of handsome leather pieces, made by the Jamestown (N. Y.) Royal Upholstery company, the same firm that makes to order the chairs used by the supreme court justices. Despite this exclusive government business, E. O. Hultquist, head of the company, supported Alf Landon in 1936 and Wendell Willkie this year. . . . The Veterans of Foreign Wars are up in arms over a recent front cover of a national magazine displaying a dog wearing a sweater knitted in the design of the U. S. flag.

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—These are lucrative days for platform lecturers. Periods of unrest always have been cake and ale for any good down-to-earth speaker and the lecture bureaus of New York at this moment represent literally scores of arresting personalities whose itineraries are criss-crossing the great population centers of the nation. Some are journalists, others are statesmen and soldiers. Most of them are versed in foreign affairs. All are finding willing listeners wherever they go.

A check of the Manhattan bureaus reveals that speakers on the European situation are in most demand right now. After this comes the theater and the field of letters.

Foremost among speakers on European matters are Vincent Sheean and Pierre Van Paassen, whose books already have won huge audiences and created a demand for appearances. Sheean at the moment has more than 60 speaking engagements that will carry him to all parts of the nation. He is the author of "Personal History," and "Not Peace But a Sword." Van Paassen, who wrote "Days of Our Years," already is on the road. Lord Morley, ex-labor member of the House of Peers; Andre Gereaud, noted French journalist, and Madame Genevieve Tabouis, known as "The Dorothy Thompson of France," also are in the field.

OF THESE speakers I prefer Van Paassen although he is not easy to listen to because of a brittle Dutch accent. He is a Hollander who, as a young man, migrated to Canada, then went to war. He saw the post-war "peace" drives, the "China incident," the Ethiopian war. I like him because he never becomes indignant, never bogs down in impotent fury. And since there is always a clear, sometimes amusing, side to every question, Van Paassen usually finds it.

We have in New York at the moment two distinguished men of letters. H. G. Wells and W. Somerset Maugham. Wells once said to me: "Lloyd George is an embittered old man, now politically dead." But this was five years ago. In the tidal wave of protest under which Chamberlain left office recently, Lloyd George's voice was among the most severe and insistent.

MR. MAUGHAM is attempting to withstand great persuasion to take the lecture platform. He has not yet yielded but the other night he did give an address, a magnificent one, at the Commodore for refugee writers in this country. He doesn't want to go on tour. If he should change his mind he will find ready-made audiences everywhere he goes. The author of "Of Human Bondage" and innumerable novels, plays, short stories, and essays is widely liked by Americans. His plays are produced on college campuses, his books discussed by literary guilds and dramatizations throughout the country.

Clifton Fadiman, literary critic of the New Yorker magazine and M. C. of the Information Please radio program, is lecturing. So are McClelland Barclay, the illustrator and Big Jim Thorpe, the old Carlisle Indian football star and All-American under Pop Warner. And the season is only just beginning.

A Farmer's Diary

Witch-Hazel

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED through a wooded glen near our home on a chilly afternoon in early November. The sun was nearly to the top of the western ridge. Soft spongy moss gave beneath my feet. A frightened rabbit shuttled in and out, then disappeared into an open log. Jays screamed their objection to my presence in frankly insulting clamor, from a treetop. A fox squirrel barked and scolded, then sped up an oak and vanished into a hollow.

Down on a small bluff near the edge of the slope, I came upon what I sought, a treelike shrub aflame with yellow threadlike blooms. To me it always seems a gallant woodland personality — the witch-hazel flaunting its flowers in the chilly air after its leaves are gone; enduring frost and wind and cold yet not discouraged' going of its bark a [illegible] to [illegible] strain and [illegible] going by its very presence in the woods an inspiration to all lovers of the wild.

I stood [illegible] the little spray and [illegible] it down to my nose. A pungent aromatic fragrance was there, robust and [illegible] spicy. Close to the flowers and below, [illegible] brown seed capsules [illegible] on a single spur. I touched one and as the itch from a [illegible] of a seed struck smartly [illegible] my curious peering face. The seed containers were old and [illegible]. They had held [illegible] almost a year, yet the [illegible] seeds were bright and new, [illegible] like shot against the [illegible]

No other shrub is like it. It is indeed well named. There is bewitchment in its flowering golden branches, waving slowly in the cool November wind — above a fern clothed bank where its bare, twining roots protrude among loose autumn leaves.

I stood awhile and wondered at its power. It seemed the embodiment of great and beautiful mystery. The sun's last rays touched its deep yellow fringelike blooms and it became vivid and unforgettable—a "burning bush" against the somber naked trees that towered behind it.

PATTERSON FIELD, near Dayton, part of a 5,000-acre United States government reservation known as Wright Field, is one of the largest flying fields in the world.

The field, a gift of Dayton citizens, also is used as a site for the experimental and research department of the army air corps. The reservation is named in honor of the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur, who conducted their early experiments in flying on a farm now included in the tract.

Orville Wright still lives in Dayton and takes a deep interest in aeronautical activities.

AT THE 1941 GASCO COOK'S CARNIVAL

IT'S Better Baked!

Don't you believe all breads are the same! BUTTER-NUT dares to be different . . . because the difference is more of what you want.

Flavor? A treat for a king! Texture! Smooth as silk! PLUS freshness that "stays put" 1 to 2 times longer without drying out.

1. Ingredients laboratory tested.
2. Baked slowly in controlled ovens.
3. Recipe balanced nutritionally.
4. Blended for distinctive flavor.
5. Cooled gradually in conditioned air.
6. Oven freshness preserved by "heat-sealed" wrapper.

PLANS 32 MILES OF RESURFACING COUNTY ROADS

Engineer Submits Proposal To Commissioners as Part of 1941 Improvements.

Resurfacing of 32.60 miles of nine county roads with bituminous materials, or "black top" as an important part of the county's 1917 road program was proposed today by County Engineer Howard Sword.

The proposal was submitted to county commissioners for approval. The work would be financed jointly by the county and WPA. There was no estimate of the cost.

The roads, mileage and townships included in the engineer's preliminary plans are:

Adario West road, 2.1 miles, Butler township, North Bowman road, 6 miles, Jackson and Cass townships; Myers road 2 miles, Jackson and Franklin townships; Hanley East road, 2 miles, Washington township Statler-Wheatcraft road 3 miles, Worthington township, Butler-Newville road, 3 miles Worthington township, Lexington-Springmill road, 3 miles, Troy township; Possum Run road, 8.5 miles, Washington and Worthington townships, Lucas- Perrysville road, 3 miles, Monroe township.

With the county's road project virtually completed for this year, Sword said 26.8 miles of 11 roads were resurfaced with "black top" and a total of 74.4 miles of county and township roads were built or repaired during the past year.

Federal WPA and PWA funds were used to supplement county and township money to finance the construction on a larger scale than in the preceding year.

In addition to the 26 miles of roads resurfaced with bituminous materials, 27 miles of county roads were reconstructed with gravel and stone, sections of two new roads were built, 12 miles of township roads were graded, and 5.7 miles of township roads were resurfaced.

The new construction included .6 of a mile of the Hanley road in Washington township and a half mile of the Kuhn road in Plymouth township.

Roads resurfaced with "black top" in 1940 include:

Sections of Olivesburg-Fitchville road, Weller and Butler townships, Shelby-Ontario road, Springfield township. Mansfield-Little Washington road Madison and Washington townships; Pleasant Valley road, Monroe township; Mt. Zion road, Mifflin and Monroe townships, Possum Run road, Washington township, Amoy-Ganges road, Franklin township, Myers road, Franklin township Trimble road, Madison township, Hornung road Sharon township and Finney road, Sandusky township.

The shape of the earth is scientifically described as an "oblate spheroid."

HUNDREDS ATTEND OPEN HOUSE ACTIVITIES AT ASHLAND HIGH

ASHLAND — Hundreds of interested visitors mingled with teachers and members of the high school Wednesday evening when open house was held at Ashland high school building. No special exhibits were in evidence but opportunity was given the citizens to see the building and equipment in use as it is every school day. Teachers were in their home rooms to greet parents and friends and explain any of the modern puzzlers.

The new addition to the high school's industrial arts rooms was open and in use. It is of brick construction with interior finish of tile. The total floor space added is 2,582 square feet. Natural lighting is provided by eight skylights, windows occupying the southern wall and glass bricks the west end. General shop, machine shop and woodwork training will be greatly facilitated by this modern addition, is the hope of the school authorities.

Two cars and two motors purchased by the school for practical experience, welders, metal lathe, hand tools and various other type of equipment have been added. To house so much new property new tools rooms, project rooms and supply rooms have been added. All industrial art courses will be together since moving the mechanical drawing room to the old woodwork storage room.

The printing department demanded almost as much attention as the new department and the music room. The offset printing equipment is the pride of the department.

Dr. Louis Pete made good use of the open house by having a real orchestra rehearsal. Visitors stopped at the music room to look and stayed to listen.

Mr. Thomas Thornburg was host in the museum. In this room are housed the many butterflies and insects which were presented by him to the school. He was on hand to explain to the inexperienced, but interested laymen, the mysteries of the collection.

On the same floor with the museum are located the science laboratories, the library, and the visual education room. Here were seen the complete collection of 16mm sound projectors, 16mm silent projector, stereopticon slides and opaque machines.

and called firemen.

Mrs. Perry told Chief Schull that when she was awakened by the smoke she went to the attic and when she opened it flames leaped out into the room. She ran from room to room awakening all of the occupants.

Brooker answered her when she called, she said. Mrs. VanNess said she presumed Brooker was leaving with the others as she went to the first floor of the house to arouse her two daughters.

Firemen were told that others in the family were not aware that Mrs. Van Ness had gone back into the house when Brooker failed to come out. They missed her just about the time firemen arrived.

Bodies of the two victims were taken to the Sutter funeral home.

Brooker was a former resident of Mansfield. He was born July 15, 1870 in London, England, coming to this country at the age of seven. He had been a resident of Shelby for 25 years.

As a Spanish-American war veteran, he was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars chapter in Shelby.

His only close survivor is a cousin, Miss Jane Brooker of 137 North Walnut street, Mansfield.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Funeral services for Mrs. Van Ness are to be held at the Sutter funeral home at 6 p. m. Friday. The body will then be taken to Clearfield, Ky., for burial.

She was born March 6, 1887 in Knott, county, Ky., and had lived in Shelby for 18 years.

Surviving are her husband, Emmett; three daughters, Mrs. Cora Perry, Mrs. William Day and Miss Virginia VanNess, all of Shelby; and a son, Charles, of Clearfield.

ORDINANCE NO. 10-197

By MR. KYLE:

An Ordinance determining to proceed with the improvement of Grover Street by the construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the property on said street between Sturges Avenue and Lexington Avenue and authorizing the issuance and sale of bonds to pay for said improvement.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, Three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

Sec. 1. That is hereby determined to proceed with the improvement of Grover Street by the construction of a sanitary sewer to serve the property on said street between Sturges Avenue and Lexington Avenue in accordance with Resolution No. 10-162 passed September 10, 1940 and in accordance with the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement heretofore approved and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service of said city.

Sec. 2. That all claims for damages resulting therefrom shall be judicially inquired into after the completion of the proposed improvement.

Sec. 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the proposed improvement upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement and the remaining portion of the cost of said proposed improvement shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio.

That to provide a fund for the payment of the portion of the cost and expense for which special assessments are authorized to be levied for the improvement of Grover Street as aforesaid, the Mayor and Auditor be and they are hereby authorized to issue, advertise for sale and sell according to law One Thousand Six Hundred ($1600.00) Dollars of Street Assessment Bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in denominations of from 50 to 1000 Dollars each payable in from One to three years and bearing interest at the same rate as to be borne by the bonds to be issued therefor.

That to provide a fund to pay that portion of the cost of said improvement which has to be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, the cost thereof to-wit: $32.00 to be taken from Fund 4-0-29 of the General Fund.

And the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of the cost and expense of said improvement as aforesaid, and to no other purpose whatsoever.

An annual levy shall be made during the term of said bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on the same and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption as they mature.

Sec. 4. That the following lots and lands shall be assessed for said improvement as above determined: Lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvement on Grover Street between Sturges Avenue and Lexington Avenue.

Sec. 5. That upon the sale of said bonds the same be placed to the credit of [illegible] the cost [illegible] shall be [illegible] the special [illegible] shall be placed to the credit of [illegible] to pay the [illegible] of the cost [illegible] Fund [illegible] Sec. 6. inimical to the Axis and Russia.

3. Turkey must make up her mind definitely and finally anent her place in the future scheme of things. Germany, Italy and Russia all feel confident that Turkey will in due time, seek an anschluss with the totalitarian powers.

If any further argument is needed to convince Turkey where her bread is buttered, Russia, with her friendship pact with Turkey, is the obvious partner to present the additional arguments.

4. Whatever compensation Russia may desire in return for her support of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo arrangement for a "new world" must come from a "bankruptcy inventory" of the British empire. German sources seem certain that Molotov, speaking for Stalin, considers Britain already defeated, just as does the Axis.

5. If the Soviet Union should desire to realize her age-long dream of obtaining access to the world's oceans, say via Iran or Afghanistan and British India, she will find the Axis powers "disinterested," in other words these powers will raise no objections.

6. All parties concerned will join in efforts to bring about a non-aggression pact between Russia and Japan as a result of which Japan, too, will show her "disinterest" in those regions which Russia regards as part of her "grossraum."

French Protest Lorraine Ouster

VICHY, France —(AP)— The French government announced today it had protested to the German armistice commission concerning the expulsion of French-speaking residents from the province of Lorraine.

A communique, issued after an urgently-summoned cabinet meeting, declared the Germans had given French-speaking Lorraine residents the choice of being expelled to Poland or France.

Since all chose France, the communique declared, the residents were being transferred into the unoccupied zone of France at the rate of seven trains daily.

The Germans were accused of toiling the Lorrainers that the action was being taken as the result of an alleged accord between Vichy and Berlin.

"The government issues a most formal denial of this allegation," the communique said.

county, three each from boards 1 and 2 in Knox county, boards 1 and 2 in Huron county, and the No. 1 board in Holmes county.

The state headquarters meanwhile postponed the second draft call from Dec. 2 to Jan. 2, or later, assuring most of the registrants of spending the holidays at home.

The delay, it was said, was ordered because of lack of proper housing facilities in camps and because enlistments in the regular army and national guard have been heavier than expected.

Richland county's two draft boards in Mansfield prepared today to send out the first questionnaires to the top 50 men on their order lists. Clerks said the blanks probably will go out tonight or Friday. Registrants will have five days in which to fill them out and return them to the draft boards.

Since the three county advisory boards had not set up their headquarters today, registrants who need help in filling out their questionnaires can obtain information from their draft boards. Advisory boards will provide information for registrants.

Draft Board No. 1 has headquarters in the Memorial building. No. 2 at 309 Richland Trust building, and No. 3 in the courthouse.

Names and order numbers of registrants will be posted at draft board headquarters within the next few days. The two draft boards in Mansfield have completed their order lists, but work on the lists for board 3 is still under way.

Twenty youths, including Raymond Proper of Fredericktown, were accepted into the navy today at Cincinnati recruiting headquarters. They will be sent to the Great Lakes, Ill., training station.

January cold continued to grip the northwest today, with Bismarck, the North Dakota capital, reporting 19 below zero. Williamston, N. D., had 17 below, and it was zero at Duluth, Minn. Chicago had one of its coldest November days, chalking up a reading of 13 above.

BOMBERS RAID DUCE'S NAVAL TARANTO BASE

Italians Say Report Half of Their Fleet Crippled 'Fantastic.'

Mussolini's battleships and given the empire's combined sea-air power prestige throughout the world.

At Taranto, where three battleships and four other warcraft of Italy's boarded battlefleet were reported crippled by naval torpedo planes flying in from aircraft carries Monday night, planes of the RAF bomber command followed up.

The ministry of information said that they successfully attacked both harbor and docks, and that all returned to their base (perhaps Malta or Crete.)

In Berlin, British bombs burst in answer to Hitler's newest stroke of diplomacy. They gave Russia's Premier Molotov his first taste of what an air raid is like. Moreover, the air ministry said that the raiders bombed a railway station, freight yards and other objectives in mid-Berlin, despite miserable flying weather.

The triumph over the Italian fleet claimed by the British for torpedo-carrying aircraft of the British fleet air arm has altered the balance of power in the Mediterranean on land as well as at sea, naval sources said today.

With one stroke, they said, the fleet air arm has:

1. Eased the task of convoys reinforcing the British armies in Egypt and Palestine.

2. Released powerful naval units for service in the Far East, where the appointment of Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham as commander-in-chief points to a strengthening of the empire's Oriental forces.

3. Allowed Britian's battle cruisers and lighter ships armed with eight-inch guns to join in the search for a German commerce raider in the Atlantic.

4. Boosted the British empire's prestige with the Turks, Greeks and Moslems of the eastern Mediterranean area.

5. Reversed the ratio of capital ships in the Mediterranean from six-to-four in favor of Italy to four-to-three in favor of Britain.

The British said torpedo-carrying planes of the fleet severely damaged two Italian battleships, "probably" knocked a third out of action, and wrecked two cruisers and two auxiliary warships in an Armistice night raid on the Italian naval base at Taranto, in southern Italy. They declared the only battleships Italy still has in action are of World war vintage.

They also saw in the attack proof that airplanes operating from aircraft carriers at sea can sink a battleship with their 1-ton torpedoes, if not with bombs.

British naval and military circles said that Italy's always-difficult problem of reinforcing her legions in North Africa now verges on the "impossible."

Strictly from a naval viewpoint, adherents of air superiority declare the British victory at Taranto sounds the death knell of massive fighting ships,. too costly to be risked in action unless they have heavy superiority in guns.

German Raiders Turned Back

BULLETIN

LONDON — (INS) — Thirty-five German raiders, approaching from different directions, tried to reach London today but all were driven back by anti-aircraft fire and R. A. F. fighting planes.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Air raiders approached London in daylight today after persistent night sorties, most of which were turned back at the coast.

The first alarm here this morning passed without incident.

Reports from a northeast coast town said high-flying raiders had kept anti-aircraft guns in action for three hours last night and early today but that most of the planes turned back without dropping bombs.

Throughout yesterday waves of planes had attacked a southeast coast district, dive bombing and spraying roads with machine-gun fire. British fighting planes met every attack and at one time 50 planes were fighting.

Retaliatory Raids Staged

ROME—(INS)—Carrying out retaliatory attacks for the British bombing of the Italian key naval base at Taranto, Fascist warplanes raided the British base at Alexandria and scored a hit on a cruiser, the high command announced today.

The attack carried out during the daylight hours yesterday, was followed by a night bombardment, the high command reported. Further results of the attack were not given, but the raid was officially described as "successful."

A new R. A. F. attack on Taranto, situated between the heel and toe of Italy's boot, was officially admitted. Three persons were killed and nine were wounded when bombs fell on the port. Damage, it was said, was limited to private dwelling houses.

(Editor's note. The Italian high command has not admitted the British claim that half of Premier Mussolini's battle fleet was wiped out in a fleet air arm attack on Taranto.)

While British planes raided Bardia, Derna, Benghasi, Assab, and Diredaua, Fascist squadrons carried out attacks on railway lines at Fuka Eldaba and Maaten Bargush, on the airport at Maaten Bargush and on a British convoy in the Mediterranean.

Troop actions in Africa, the communique said were confined to patrol skirmishes south of Kassa in East Africa, and a British bombardment of Italian positions at Gallabat.

Claim Eight Ships Destroyed

BERLIN—Destruction of eight British merchant ships, five of them by one submarine and the rest by bombing planes, was claimed today by the high comand in continuation of Germany's intensified campaign against vital British shipping.

Severe damage to another vessel was reported.

The time and place of the submarine's forays were not disclosed by the high command communique, but the sinking of 26,840 tons of freight vessels was reported.

In bombing-plane onslaughts against a convoy off Kinnaird head, "heavily protected by anti-aircraft, a cruiser and other war vessels," the high command said, a 6,000-ton ship was sunk and another was "severely damaged."

A later attack exploded an 8,000-ton freighter, apparently loaded with explosives or munitions, the communique said, "destroying it."

In still another attack, 225 miles west of Ireland, a long-range bomber sank a 6,000-ton vessel, the communique asserted.

"British planes," it said "made nocturnal flights over German territory again without noteworthy success."

Short Account Of Taranto Raid

By LARRY ALLEN

ABOARD A BATTLESHIP OF THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, off Taranto—(AP)—Navy bombing planes swooped in the moonlight into the heart of Taranto's inner defenses Monday night, flinging torpedoes and high-explosive bombs at sides and decks of warships, and the pilots said they left one great battleship aflame and two others beached or half submerged.

Sheets of flame leaped from the 35,000-ton Littorio, which the Italians have called the fastest warship in the world.

Pilots said fires burst from the other damaged battleships, both of the 23,622-ton Cavour class.

Air reconnaissance after the attack brought back word that one ship of the Avour class was "half under water;" the other beached to prevent sinking and the Littorio still burning.

on the northern front) destroyed a considerable number of planes on the ground and blew up a large building," the Greek communique said. "One enemy fighter was downed in battle."

Reports at Ohrid, Jugoslav border town, said five Greek and three British planes had bombed the entire 90-mile stretch of Albanian coast from Durazzo to Argirocastron at 10 a. m. yesterday, including the towns of Argirocastron, Tepelina, Lesni and Durazzo. At Berat, it was said, 20 were killed, 60 wounded and six buildings destroyed. Another report at Ohrid was that a new Italian division thrown into the Mesaria region of the Pindus sector had advanced three and a half miles, but had run into a cross-fire of Greek artillery and had been thrown back.

Casualties in the encounter were given as 42 Italians killed and about 100 wounded; and 18 Greeks killed and about 10 wounded. Two Italian officers, 50 soldiers, one tank and three machine guns were said to have been captured by the Greeks.

It was estimated unofficially that 1,000 Italians had been killed and several thousand captured in the first 18 days of fighting. Some 500 prisoners reached Athens yesterday morning and more came last night.

FILE ELECTION EXPENSE DATA

5 County Candidates Present Accounts Ranging From $8 to $426.

Five candidates for county offices at the Nov. 5 election had filed their campaign expense reports today with the Richland county election board, listing expenditures ranging from $8.90 to $426.

County Engineer Howard Sword, re-elected on the Democratic ticket, reported expenditures amounting to $426 to head the list. He said he received contributions totaling $245 and financed the rest himself. Contributions were made by Carl Stough and George Slicker.

His Republican opponent, Kenneth Shaffer, reported expenditures of $287 and receipts totaling $35 from the county G. O. P. executive committee for postage.

James Brownscombe, Republican, who was defeated by Howard Wenning for county clerk of courts, said he spent $214.85 and listed no receipts. Wenning spent $266 on his campaign, financing all of it himself.

Dr. Lewis B. McCullough, elected coroner on the Democratic ticket, reported spending $8.90.

The estate of Henry L. Goemann submitted a report showing he spent $187 for political advertising in behalf of Wendell L. Willkie for president. Mr. Goeman died Oct. 26, shortly after authorizing the advertising.

BEEBEE'S HAS GIVEN MORE RELIEF THAN ANYTHING ELSE USERS SAY TWO TO ONE
Backache, stiffness and soreness, gravel, inflammation of the bladder and prostate troubles, stoppage and too frequent urination, cramps, scalding and burning urine, leg pains, lack of vitality.

MR. CHARLES L. PREDMORE
"It is impossible for me to find words to thank the Whiteside Company of Wilmington, Ohio, for the benefit this wonderful medicine BEEBEE'S has given me," says Mr. Charles L. Predmore, Rushsylvania, Ohio. "For the past four years my body was full of aches and pains from stones in my kidneys, X-rays showed. This condition wore me down until I could hardly drag one foot after the other and I became bedfast. My limbs, feet and hands were swollen. My kidneys caused me constant rising at night. There were pains in my prostate glands. I was very tired, worn out and nervous all the time. I had tried every kind of kidney remedy I have heard of and no relief until I took BEEBEE'S.
"If your condition is caused by kidney or other troubles of the kidneys do not stop at four or five bottles of BEEBEE'S. Take it like I did until you are free of stones and every ailment for it will do just as I claim it will do and the Company recommended it would do."
BEEBEE'S is made from Roots and Herbs, Nature's Alkaline, the best medicine anyone could take. Try this medicine BEEBEE'S today and get results.

OBSERVE BOOK WEEK AT MONTHLY DINNER MEET

Miss Lois MacKellar Gives Review; Members of Mansfield Business and Professional Women's Club In Session.

IN CONNECTION with the observance of National Book week, Miss Lois MacKellar, head librarian at the public library, reviewed "For Whom the Bells Toll" by Ernest Hemmingway at the meeting of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club in the Mansfield-Leland hotel ballroom. Dinner was served to 64 members after which the business meeting and program was presented.

During her talk Miss MacKellar also invited the members to attend the book fair which is now in progress at the library. The program was in charge of Jeannette Hoffman, Edith Stewart, Ellen Lape, Flora Lentzy and Estella Dyer.

Immediately following the dinner Thurza Hazeltine, accompanied by Miss Katherine Huber, sang "To the Sun," "Among the Living," "The Star" and "Homing."

Mrs. Marvel Cowell, president, was in charge of the business meeting during which routine reports were made. Rachel Shreffler announced a guest hike for Nov. 24 at 1:45 p. m. The group will leave from the courthouse. She also read a paper sent out by the state chairman of health and recreation on "The Dangers of Being Too Thin."

Nina Pollock introduced two new members, Cecelia Brumbaugh and Edna Tucker.

An invitation was received from the Brooklyn club to attend the ninth annual fiesta and dinner which will be held at guild hall at 6:45 p. m. Nov 16, and announcement was made of the district meeting which will be held at the Hotel Cleveland Nov. 17. The forum will begin at 10:30 a m. with luncheon at 12:30. Faye Cisco, transportation chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

The hospitality committee included Fanny Ray, Rebecca Grubaugh and Lena Colgan. Three small tables were placed at right angles to the speakers' table for the dinner, and a brass bowl of bronze and dusty rose chrysanthemums centered the main table. Large wooden bowls of fruit were used on the small tables, and bronze candle holders with ivory tapers and autumn leaves completed the setting.

Members will meet again Dec. 11 at the hotel. Details will be announced later.

MEET TOMORROW.

There will be a meeting of the Art Study club tomorrow afternoon at the Wickliffe Manor, with Mrs. Fred Dippman, Mrs. Frank Glasgow and Mrs. J. Fendrick in charge. The guest party, which was originally scheduled for tomorrow evening, will be held on Nov. 29 in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel, with the officers as hostesses.

COUPLE CELEBRATES

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stehle, sr., 191 Bowman street, observed their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday, which also was the 70th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stehle. The couple has lived here for 31 years, coming from Austria-Hungary. Their sons and daughters gave a dinner party in their honor Tuesday evening in the pavilion at Johns park.

Church Organizations Have Sessions at Members' Homes

AS THE WEEK advances the meetings of church groups grow apace until it seems as if every organization in the city had met. Yesterday the Women's Missionary society of the First Brethren church met with Mrs. Ralph Miles, 182 Miller street, with Mrs. Andrew Kovach assisting. There were 18 present. Mrs. Harvey Beal led the devotions, and Mrs. Howard Richard gave a poem.

Mrs. Elmer Carruthers and Mrs. Charles Craig sang a duet, and plans were made to have a covered-dish dinner with Mrs. Joseph Rairigh, 533 Bowman street, Dec. 11. Mrs. Harry Kiel will be leader.

One guest, Mrs. Helen Melonson, and 15 members of the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church were present at the regular session held with Mrs. George Rusk, West First street, last night with Mrs. Frank Williams assisting.

The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. W. E. Shane, and Miss Maude Stewart had the devotions while Miss Helen Brown led the thank offering subject. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated with autumnal appointments. The next meeting will be held Dec. 18 at the church with Mrs. J. C. Boyd and Mrs. W. S. Miller in charge.

Members of the Third District of the First Lutheran church were the guests of Mrs. Otis Sowash, 538 West Fourth street, yesterday. Mrs. Amos Day and Mrs. Wilmer Gross were the associate hostesses. There were 28 present and Mrs. W. B. Osborn gave an illustrated travel talk on her trip to the Caribbean and South America. The next meeting will be held Dec. 11.

* * *

The home of Phyllis Bottomley and Lois Phifer, 232 Poplar street, was the scene last night of the meeting of the Ecclesiastes class of the First Lutheran church. The devotions were led by Dorothy Auker, and officers were elected during the business meeting.

Officers are Ruth LeMunyon, president; Naomi Linsenmayer, vice president; Dorothy Auker, secretary; Lois Phifer, treasurer, and Mary Ellen Miller, program chairman.

Jessie Logan was a guest. Contest winners were Lucille Calver, Ruth LeMunyon and Mildred Stone. The next meeting will be a Christmas party with Mary Alice Lambright, 395 Henry street, Dec. 18.

Members of the St. Paul Lutheranites, intermediate group, met at the church last night to make arrangements for sponsoring the sale of religious calendars.

CONVENTION REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION

Books and Money Management Topics for Discussion at Western P. T. A., Others Also Conduct Meetings.

THIS has been a more than average busy week in P. T. A. circles in Mansfield, and last night was the session of the Western avenue association with Sherman Wentz in charge of the routine session. Miss Myra Lorimore spoke on "Books for Children" and gave a display of children's books.

Myron Miller then spoke on "Training Children to Manage Money." Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Miss Rebecca Grubaugh. A LeMoine Derr presented Donald McLaughlin and Olive Jean Hughes in musical selections.

Garden club certificates and honorable mentions were given to Hazel Donnelson, Frances Lane, Sue Belle Biddle, David Wentz, Joan Meihack, Marion Gilbert, Mary Katherine Rust and Betty Ann Miller.

Reports of the recent P. T. A. convention held at Cincinnati were given by Mrs. Paul Stahl and Mrs. E. B. Bolling last night at the Hedges meeting which followed open house. Walter Leedy, past president, was presented with a pin by the group.

Plans were made for a penny supper to be held Nov. 29. A musical program was then presented by Fred and Russell Bedlinger and John Taylor, and Dr. Grover E. Swoyer spoke on the "Family in a Democracy."

Members of the Woodland P. T. A. heard A. F. Busch, president, give a report of the Cincinnati convention when they met Tuesday night at the school. Mrs. Paul Endriss gave a report of the benefit card party held recently, and the P. T. A. Jamboree was announced. The guest speaker was Atty. John Kramer who discussed gratitude. Refreshments were served.

Virginia Moore gave the topic, and Edith Heuss, Betty Rowe, Cuvier Mang and Harold Lash were in charge. Suzanne Spicer, Gretchen Edwards, Marjorie Berg, Dick Fenn and George Zerby will be in charge of the December meeting.

Mrs. Gale Idle, 271 Helen avenue, was hostess to members of the Queen Esther class of the First Methodist church Wednesday evening. The hostess led the devotions and read from the study book, "Stand By for China."

Members of the nominating committee, Evelyn Corwin, Leona Hout and Betty Hammett gave their report. A membership committee, composed of Libby Cline, Maxine Pearson, Janet Kempf and Leona Hout, were appointed.

Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments served. Miss Eleanor Coe, 35 Brickman avenue, will be hostess at her home, Dec. 11.

Miss May Pritchard, 647 Springmill street, entertained members of the Good Cheer Circle of the South Main Street Evangelical church Wednesday evening at her home. Assisting with arrangements were Mrs. C. F. Wolff and Mrs. Edward Wendland.

Mrs. Belle Arnold was chosen president of the group; Mrs. Carl Ortman, vice president; Mrs. Edward Wendland, recording secretary; Mrs. Faye Chamberland, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Leo Rand, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Doris Robinson, assistant corresponding secretary; Miss Pritchard, treasurer; teachers, Mrs. C. F. Wolf and Mrs. Gay Snyder.

Mrs. A. C. Minard was in charge of the varied program presented. The next meeting will be held Dec. 11, the place to be announced later.

HAVE SESSION.

Members of the Firemen's local auxiliary met with Mrs. Berniece Adkins, 23 Ford avenue, Tuesday afternoon. Contests were the diversion, and prizes were won by Mrs. Minnie Seeburger and Mrs. Wilma Maul. There were 12 present. The next meeting will be held Dec. 5 with Mrs. Andrew Herring, 243 Rae avenue.

Change Color With Care

By MME QUI VIVE.

Bosses of pulchritude works say that there's more hair dyeing going on than ever before in the history of the beauty industry. Heads getting ducked in the dye pots like all get out. And Mr. and Mrs. Public seem not to be any wiser. The reason is that hair coloring has reached a high degree of perfection. And the cash customers are frankly told that once the step is taken they must trot-trot to the beauty shop every six weeks or so for a touch up. Which they do, like good girls.

There has been considerable prejudice against dyed tresses because women attempted to do the job themselves and made a sad mess of it. Takes training, skill, judgment and experience, and what woman is blessed with those qualities? She can't get them unless she goes to a school where the work is taught. Even then, not being able to see the back of her head, she can not make a howling success of her efforts.

Stands to reason that the coloring agent must be precisely the right one for her shade of brain wool, that it must be applied correctly. There are many different forms of presto-change mediums, liquids, packs and rinses. To make a happy choice requires the seeing, professional eye, as anyone should be able to understand. The color must be matched several inches away from the growth close to the scalp.

Hair can be made to take on a gorgeous titian shade, or the blackness of the raven's wing, or lovely chestnut lights and shadows. But one can't say "eenie, meanie, mine mo" and make a choice. A wrong selection may make the complexion grey or sallow. The thing to do is to get as close a match as possible to the virgin growth. If hair is of different shades it may be necessary to use a lotion of different degrees of strength.

If there are just a few grey threads at the temples, they can be touched up with mascara after each shampoo. But a pepper and salt thatch requires skillful treatment if the hair is to come out one color. Any woman who attempts to dye her hair when it is part white and part dark will be pouring troubles on her head; it is a tough job to make her presentable. And no woman should place one dye atop another; that is a fatal mistake.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Yes, this is Miss Whitlock," came the answer to my telephone call.

It was she who, with some aid from Katherine, had nursed Edith Fairfax through the dangerously severe attack of nervous exhaustion following her confession of her part in Jack Leslie's plot. More than once had we despaired of Edith's life, but Miss Whitlock had pulled her through, and when she had recovered sufficiently to go to the home of her sister, Lelia Durkee, in Marvin, Edith acknowledged, with the rest of us, that she owed her life to the nurse's skill and faithfulness.

"This is Mrs. Graham," I said, and heard her cheery chuckle.

"That is superfluous information," she said. "I should know your voice anywhere. But I do hope you don't need me professionally."

"Why?" I asked in quick alarm. "Are you on a case?"

"No, indeed," she replied, "and I fancy you know I would rather come to you than anybody else. It's simply that I think you've had your share of troubles and anxieties. But tell me how I can serve you."

"I want you to go to Mrs. Underwood's—" I gave her the address—"at once, and remain with her until I get there. She has had bad news—I cannot tell you what until I have her permission. But she needs somebody—preferably you—with her. Tell her I sent you, and that I told you only that she had had bad news. But do not leave her no matter what she says."

"Unless she throws me out bodily—and I'm pretty husky," she said with a little laugh. "I'll be there when you arrive."

"I know you will," I said, and hung up the receiver.

"What can I do, Madge?" Katherine's voice, with a note of anxiety, came to my ears before I turned from the telephone.

"Dicky said something about Lil being in trouble, and that you wanted me in a hurry. He said you would explain."

I told her quickly of Marion's disappearance and of Helena Brixton's letter. When I had finished she looked at me queerly.

"I wonder if you agree with what I'm thinking," she said.

"I shouldn't wonder," I said.

"That you won't need to go any further than Carolyn Brixton to find the reason for all this ruction," said said.

"I'm glad you said that," I said. "It bolsters a rather shaky opinion I held."

"It isn't shaky at all," she persisted. "I'd wager anything on it. Oh! I don't mean necessarily that Carolyn's to blame. But she certainly knows the answer."

"I imagine she does," I said.

She shot a swift glance at me.

"But you haven't time to talk about it," she said shrewdly. "Give me your commands instantly."

"I'm starting back with Dicky as soon as we've had a bite to eat and some coffee," I said. "Will you pack me a small bag and a suitcase, while I'm eating, so we can start immediately afterward? I don't know how long I'll be gone or where I shall have to go, but one thing is evident, I shan't need any frills or evening things."

"I'll attend to everything," she promised. "Go on down and eat."

I obeyed her, knowing that when she had finished my packing I would have everything in even better shape than if I did it myself. But Dicky and I barely had finished eating when the telephone rang, and going to it, I heard Marion's voice on the wire.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Announcement was made this morning of the marriage of Miss Lucille Fellenbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fellenbaum, Ashland, and Jack L. Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brandt, 65 State street. The ceremony was performed Nov. 10, 1939 at the Methodist church at Russell, Ky., by Rev. O. P. Smith. The bride of a year has been employed by an Ashland physician, while Mr. Brandt is employed at the Perfection Bedspring company.

Learning Takes Lead Over Fun

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Three or four weeks ago this column published a "Primer for Girls Entering College." The question discussed which course was better — to study hard, achieve something in the way of a career with the possibility of earning a big salary and become what the world calls a success, or just to be pretty, popular and attractive, and have plenty of dates?

The response has been very interesting. With hardly a dissenting note, parents were in favor of girls studying hard with success and a good salary as the goal. Many girls fell back on "We're only young once, why not have a good time?"

The trouble with that formula is that it's blown up, and that women without educational equipment or some profession or trade are in a pretty sad way when it comes to meeting the responsibilities of life.

More than a generation ago, those magnificent old high priestesses of suffrage who worked endlessly to have women enfranchised, admitted to the professions, and to see that they worked under decent living conditions, announced that marriage no longer furnished economic security for women. Today the majority of wives have to work. There's no getting around that, even if they work at home, doing cooking, washing, ironing and a hundred other household tasks.

When the census was taken 20 years ago there was a tremendous rumpus on the part of women who worked endlessly at household drudgery because they were classed by census-takers as "having no occupation." Infuriated housewives wrote to this column, asking why they should be classed with park-bench sitters when they worked sometimes 14 hours a day, long after the husbands, whose occupation was given, were snoring comfortably in bed? I believe the present census-takers list women who work around the house as "homemakers."

It's only the sensible thing for every girl in every walk of life to learn something which will help her to stand on her own feet, whether she marries or doesn't marry.

The most tragic letters that come to this column are from women who have never learned to do anything in the way of gainful occupation. They lose their husbands through death or desertion, and are distraught at the prospect of having to support two of three children and not knowing how to go it.

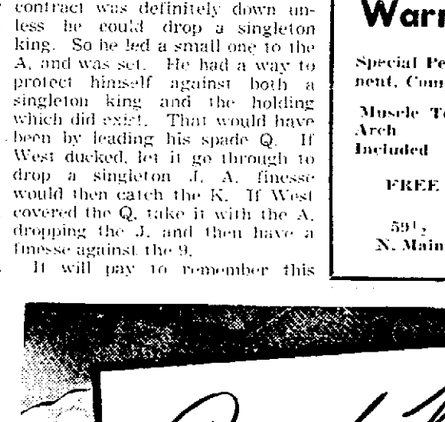
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

GUARD ALL YOU CAN

A sound player will always guard himself against as many possible different distributions of the missing cards as he can. If he can protect himself against every possible lineup, it is his job to do that. If there is only one arrangement of the missing cards which can pull him through he should play for that one. If there is some way to guard against that and one other situation, then that is his job.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	7 ♠	Dbl

You can hardly blame South for bidding grand slam when the Blackwood convention told him his partner had two aces, two kings and enough spade strength to force after a mere minimum suit response. But you can blame West for doubling, especially in a rubber game, even though his king seemed to be well located. Telling the opponents about it might result in their winning a finesse for the contract if the ace happened to be in North's hand, whereas otherwise the declarer might go wrong.

South went wrong anyway, so West went unpunished. The club Q was led to the A, and South made his mistake of deciding his contract was definitely down unless he could drop a singleton king. So he led a small one to the A, and was set. He had a way to protect himself against both a singleton king and the holding which did exist. That would have been by leading his spade Q. If West ducked, let it go through to drop a singleton J. A finesse would then catch the K. If West covered the Q, take it with the A, dropping the J, and then have a finesse against the 9.

It will pay to remember this combination of cards, and play it as indicated, which protects you against a singleton K held by West or a singleton J held by East.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West bids heart and East spades along the way, how should South play this hand for 6-Diamonds against a lead of the heart K?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, November 15.

An interesting and eventful day, in which fact, stratagem, intrigue, and confidential proceedings may result in surprising denouement. These are likely to culminate in the public eye, with the endorsement and signs of preferment from those in power and authority. Innovation, originality, romance and adventure have their influential place in contributing to a happy, progressive and probably thrilling state of affairs, in which creative ability, high ideals and spiritual faculties seek crystallized expression.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year in which peculiar experiences or extraordinary contacts may make life thrilling, romantic, adventurous and even spectacular. There are subtle and intriguing forces at work, calling for finesse and subtlety in order to put over programs in which the ideals, aspirations, intuitions seek expression. This may be in the form of art, music, poetry, drama, possibly politics, adventure or romance in which the finer creative urges demand expression.

A child born on this day may have an unusual and intriguing character, the heights and depths of which may prove unfathomable. It should be strongly intuitive, aspirational, idealistic.

Venus is by far the brightest object in the heavens except the sun and moon.

New Deal 'Inner Circle' Sharpens Ax for Officials

'BRAIN TRUST' WING PLOTTING FOUR CHANGES

Attacks on Hughes, Hoover, Stimson and Kennedy Seen In Offing.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The "inner circle" of the New Deal, flushed with their part in President Roosevelt's third term victory, are drafting an ambitious program of political activity in hopes of forcing sweeping changes in the administration, it was learned today.

This New Deal faction, headed by the "brain-trust wing" — Thomas G. Corcoran and Benjamin Cohen—would like to see:

1. A new department of aviation created, with Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York City, as the secretary of aviation.

2. Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson retire, so that assistant Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson can be promoted to the cabinet.

3. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes retire, so that Attorney General Robert H. Jackson can be promoted to head the supreme court.

4. The earlier "smear" campaign resumed against FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in hopes he can be forced into retirement and a good New Dealer named to head his vast organization.

The proposal to create a new department of aviation has many ramifications. The New Deal stategists now are talking of giving the proposed new cabinet member control over all civil aviation and the entire war plane procurement program. This would take civil aviation from the department of commerce and final word on war plane construction from the national defense commission.

The plan is aimed at Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Britain, who is expected to retire from that post shortly and who—the strategists believe—may become chairman of the national defense commission. The Corcoran-Cohen group have been major political enemies of Kennedy for years.

The war department change is advocated by the "inner circle" because they dislike Stimson. Patterson, on the other hand, is a Harvard graduate, one of the "Frankfurter boys" who studied under Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter when the latter taught law at the Cambridge institution.

The Cohen-Corcoran faction already have started a campaign to embarrass Chief Justice Hughes. Opening shots were fired last week in "planted" stories, forecasting his early retirement. Friends of Hughes say the chief justice has never been in finer physical condition and never more desirous of staying on as head of the nation's highest court.

The campaign against Hoover is scheduled to be resumed within a few weeks. A previous campaign ended with Hoover on top but the "inner circle" still hopes to force his retirement.

Mexico Reports Defense Alliance With U.S.

OFFER CREDITS FOR BUILDING OF NEW BASES

Washington Denies Pact But Hopes For Cooperation South of Border.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Administration officials confronted with Mexican reports of a U. S.-Mexican defense alliance, hoped today that "more co-operative relations" with Mexico would soon result in the construction of strong Mexican naval and air bases.

They emphasized that the bases would be Mexican, built by and for Mexico. But it was indicated that the United States probably would help financially and the bases would be available to American airplanes and warships on hemisphere defense duty.

State department officials denied the Mexican reports of a mutual defense alliance. They did not deny that mutual defense discussions have been underway for some time.

Reports that an agreement has been signed were generally believed here to be premature.

Some informed sources here believe that if and when an agreement is signed, it is likely to be merely one extending credits to Mexico.

REPORT PACT.

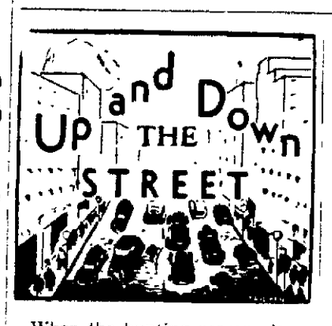
MEXICO CITY —(U.P.)— Naval authorities reported today that a secret Mexican-United States agreement giving the United States access to Mexican naval and air bases was signed in October.

The agreement was said to have been signed for Mexico by Ambassador Francisco Castillo Najera shortly after he returned to Washington on Oct. 28 after a visit here during which he conferred with President Lazaro Cardenas.

Under the reported agreement, the combination air and sea bases will include Acapulco (which already has a coastal patrol base), Tampico, Ciudad Del Carmen in Campeche state, Cozumel in Quintanarro territory and Islamargarita, the Magdalena bay of Lower California, often described as the most perfect naval harbor in North America.

The naval bases reportedly include Salina Cruz, Pacific terminal of the Tehuantepec isthmus railroad, Guaymas, and Vera Cruz where a Mexican naval training school is located.

Up and Down the Street



When the hunting season closes this winter, there'll be no arguments over who is the best shot at Ontario school. Early this week the recently organized Junior Sportsman's club drew up a huge chart which will prove exactly who is the best shot. In one column all the members of the club are listed and opposite their names are spaces for putting down the number of rabbits and pheasants each hunter gets at the end of a day's shooting and the number of shells used in bringing down the game. In the final column accurate percentages will be figured on the basis of the information.

In compiling their selective service order lists, the Richland county draft boards didn't find any serial and order numbers that coincided, but two of the numbers almost matched. William W. Stewart, R. D. 1, Mansfield, had serial number 109, and the No. 3 draft board placed him 110th on the order list. Clarence Fry, of Shelby, got 1,000 added to his serial number and he probably didn't complain about it. His serial number is 746, but he is 1,746th in order on the list.

No one appreciates the 10-year membership badge of the Red Cross any more than Miss Mary Ellen Runyan, life long resident of Mansfield who is ill at the home of a relative in Oberlin. She sent her membership dues today after she had received her badge which shows she has been a member of the Red Cross for 10 consecutive years. She wrote that she is now able to sit up and that she wears the badge on her bedjacket.

SLOAN URGES SIX-DAY WEEK

Says It's Needed To Speed Up Defense After Slack In Employment Taken.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors Corporation, suggests that American industry supplant the five-day with the six-day week as a means of increasing production "when the slack of unemployment has been taken up."

Addressing the academy of political science last night, Sloan asserted the key to national defense "is the strongest, most virile, the most aggressive economy that the creative genius of America can devise."

"Output can be increased 20 per cent by working six days a week in place of five days. It seems clear that this should be the first step, if the point is reached when the slack of unemployment has been taken up and the increasing speed of industry has been utilized to the fullest practical extent."

He said the "penalty for overtime" should be canceled during the emergency to "encourage a longer work week."

Sloan said he saw inflation as the most striking economic danger today and warned that it must be faced "if we continue on the present road" of "economic fantasies," and that "the defense program serves to accelerate its coming."

URGES MOTORISTS TO USE MORE CARE IN PASSING SCHOOL BUSES

Following closely Richland county's two school bus accidents in which 12 persons were injured, including nine school children, more careful observance of the "School Bus—Stop!" law was urged today by the Ohio Highway patrol to offset a great increase in accidents involving the vehicles.

Col. Lynn Black, superintendent, emphasized that motorists, coming upon a school bus loading or discharging passengers, must stop until the bus resumes travel. The stop must be made regardless of whether the bus is approached from the front or rear.

"It's a good policy," he added, "for motorists to slow down and exercise caution as soon as they see a school bus."

The highway patrol investigated 85 accidents involving school buses last year, as compared with 41 in 1938. Sixty accidents have been reported this year, and in them two persons were killed and 66 injured.

Failure of motorists to stop and reckless driving were primarily responsible.

The patrol has asked the state department of education to require that school bus drivers discharge the pupils on their home side of the road so that they will not have to cross the highway.

In one accident in Richland county, nine school children were injured when the bus turned over Sept. 7, 11 miles north of Mansfield on route 13 near Shenandoah. The other accident happened on route 30-S, two miles west of Mansfield, Sept. 24, and resulted in injuries to three persons.

Incidentally, the highway patrol will be seven years old tomorrow. Established Nov. 15, 1933, with 60 patrolmen, it now has 200 in addition to 30 radio operators distributed among 31 stations, five of them with radio transmitters.

C. R. MILLER DIES

Brief Illness Fatal To Native of Richland County.

Charles R. Miller, 61, of 270 North Main street, life-long resident of Richland county, died Wednesday at his home following a brief illness.

Mr. Miller was born near Bellville, Sept. 30, 1879. He was a former railway postal clerk but illness forced him to retire several years ago. He was a former member of the Masonic Lodge and was a member of the St. Matthew Lutheran church. Surviving is a brother, Walter Reese Miller of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Finefrock funeral home in charge of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, of the St. Matthews Lutheran church. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Crestline Girl Among Candidates As O. S. U. 'Queen'

A Mansfield district co-ed at Ohio State university was among the six candidates for queen to reign over home-coming festivities on the campus on Nov. 23, date of the Ohio State-Michigan football game.

She is Miss Sara Lightburn of Crestline, selected along with five other candidates in a primary election.

University students will ballot on their selection for queen Tuesday.

Other queen candidates are Helen Knapp, Mt. Sterling; Eleanor M. Smith, Cleveland Heights; Betty Lou Thompson and Genevieve Adams, Columbus, and Louise Dinger, Canton.

SUPPORT LEWIS

Cleveland CIO Would Re-elect Union President.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Industrial Union council (CIO) today recorded support of John L. Lewis if he wishes another term as president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

If Lewis fulfills his previous intention to resign upon the re-election of President Roosevelt, the Cleveland delegate to the national CIO convention next week has been instructed to vote for a successor "loyal to Lewis' program and policies."

NAMED AGAIN

Stough Re-elected Director of Farm Credit Group.

W. E. Stough, Springfield township farm leader, had been re-elected today to the board of directors of the Farm Credit Administration of Louisville. His term is for three years.

Stough was re-named by the 43 production credit associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and Tennessee which make up the Louisvill credit administration area.

As a board member, he also will serve as a director of the Federal Land bank, the Federal Intermediate Credit bank, the Bank for Cooperatives, and the Productive Credit corporation. The federal agencies provide low interest rate loans for farmers.

Active in farm organization affairs for a number of years, Stough is president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative association and the Ashland Productive Credit association. He has been influential in the organization of the Richland County Farm Bureau and its progress.

Rev. Cashman, a resident of Ashland and a preacher and teacher in the Brethren denomination for 18 years, will speak on "Russia In Prophecy." Cashman said today that he would tell "of the great northern confederacy of nations which the Bible predicts will march on Palestine with disappointing results."

ASKS DIVORCE

Women Married Only Eight Weeks, Brings Action 'n Court.

Married only eight weeks ago in Delaware, Mrs. Ethel Laird, Amoy road, today sought a divorce from Roy Laird in Richland county common pleas court.

She contends in her action that her husband has failed to provide support. Judge C. H. Huston granted a temporary injunction to restrain Laird from molesting his wife while the divorce suit is pending. Mrs. Laird asks for alimony.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Miss Midnight's Diary.

Dear Diary: I am sure everyone will be glad to know that patriotism has reached the Smart Set, and that I have discovered the Betsy Ross of cafe society.

She is Marion Preminger, wife of Dr. Otto Preminger, and while she is not exactly making American flags, she is making herself up to look like a chic American flag—and she is not using just any old patchwork quilt, or whatever the First Flag-Sewer used, she is using ermine.

It was all very well for people to go around wearing celluloid buttons saying "I Am An American," and it was even a nice gesture for some citizens and citizenesses to wear little rhinestone American flags in their lapels, but for Marion this was not enough. So she turned up at the premiere of "Beverly Hills" last Thursday evening wearing a red, white and blue cape—red velvet, white ermine, and blue velvet. The white predominated. As a matter of fact, the whole cape was ermine, on which the velvet ribbon had been appliqued.

"Everyone is patriotic," Marion said, "but my patriotism is the most expensive."

(Later on, when she took off the cape, it was discovered that she also had a red, white and blue ribbon tied around her middle.)

With the fashion note floating up and down the aisles, it is a wonder anyone could concentrate on the play, and when the rumor got around that Jimmy Stewart was in the audience, nobody could. This Stewart whisper reached the balcony, and suddenly a flood of autograph hunters descended upon the stalls.

So far as I know they did not find Jimmy, but they did find Helen Vinson, Hope Hampton in silver and gold and sable, and Mary Brian with artist Jon Whitcomb.

There was also a rumor that Simone Simon was out front, which caused no end of fluttering in the heart of young Freddy De Cordoba, the Shubert stage manager. He is the slim, dark, smiling fellow who Simone once handed a quarter and told to go get her a ham sandwich and a malted milk when she was working in a Shubert show, the name of which I (and even the drama departments) have forgotten.

Out of this quarter incident, and Freddy's indignation, grew what the movies called a "fighting romance" — pretty soon Freddy stopped hating Simone and Simone stopped asking Freddy to go out and get her a box lunch. In fact, there is even a legend that she began bringing him malteds spiked with creme de menthe.

Anyway, Freddy turned up at Ilka Chas's party after the theater and he kept telling people, in rather a charming fluster:

Simone was out front tonight, did you know it?"

Ilka was having as much fun at her own party as if she had not just opened in a play. She looked fresh as a daisy in a black lace gown and a quantity of exotic beads and her tummy was exposed—or semi-exposed. By this I mean that whatever was under her dress stopped just above and just below what the magazines call the midriff and there was nothing but lace covering Ilka's tummy.

Nunnally Johnson, the Hollywood writer, was there, distinguished by his mufti, his witty conversation, and his pretty blond wife, who sat quietly on a couch most of the evening in an attitude we have not come to expect from Hollywood glamor girls. Mr. Donald Oenslager floated about chuckling at the guests, as did Dr. Preminger, and Lucius Beebe.

Several guests "in the know" were talking about Gloria Swanson, who was not present. Gloria it seems, had been slated to return to Broadway in Dr. Preminger's next play, but on Wednesday she called him up and told him she was sorry, she would not be in the cast.

"I am going to Cuba," she told him. "I will not live in the United States while Roosevelt is president."

* * *

Last Wednesday night Henry Youngman took over the comic's duties at the Hurricane, and I must say he took them over very well. He is a comedian who gets funnier to me every time I see him, and I think from now on I will try to manage to see him a great deal.

For the opening, Mr. Youngman was dressed in a charming costume—half dinner jacket, half sarong.

The Billy Gaxtons, Carol Bruce, Betty Allen, Ann Graham and Edna Sedgwich—in other words, the Buddy DeSylva statue—turned out to applaud him. So did Dorothy (Butch) Bigbee, the showgirl, who arrived dripping with furs, causing Mr. Youngman to remark:

"Your mother must have been frightened by L. J. Fox!"

I cannot imagine what Miss Lucille Ball's telephone bills are like, unless her studio is paying for them, because she keeps lifting the receiver in Hollywood and asking the operator for Desi Arnaz in New York, as if it was a 25-cent call from Times Square to Pelham.

The other evening when she felt lonesome she called up the Versailles and listened while Desi sang "Tabu" in the floor show.

I am waiting now for the management of the Versailles to send her a bill for cover charge.

In conclusion, I have a little item for Ed Wynn. One of the showgirls in his opus "Boys and Girls Together" is known as "Miss Twenty One" in a sequence in which all the prettiest are named after niteries.

Wednesday evening in Barney Gallants this same showgirl—in private life she is Fay Paulsen—remarked wistfully:

"You know I think I have been everywhere in New York except Twenty One!"

$50,000 FIRE AT WOODSFIELD

Six Business Blocks Destroyed in Morning Blaze.

WOODSFIELD (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin wiped out six frame two-story business firms on Main street early today. Loss was estimated between $50,000 and $75,000.

It was the fourth blaze of unknown cause which has struck the same business block within five months.

The Woodsfield American Legion volunteer firemen had the flames under control when the Barnesville fire department arrived at 1 a. m. to help them. The fire was discovered at 2 a. m.

Glover Scheduled to Fight

Meets Rugged Youth

Former Mansfield Mittster To Battle In One of Five-Round Matches.

By CHARLES MARTIN
(News-Journal Sports Editor.)

AMATEUR BOXING was scheduled to make an appearance in Mansfield at the Saprano-Doehla Athletic club last night—but an accident stopped the show.

Four Cleveland youngsters, one of them in the feature bout, were to fight and according to Mike Getz, Cleveland trainer, the lads had an automobile accident just as they were leaving the Lake City.

Mike Stephens, who was to go against Paul Carbetta in the feature match, was driving the car and is reported to be the only one injured.

* * *

To make up for the postponement, Joe Saprano, co-owner of the club stated early today that Beauford Glover, former Mansfield mittster, will meet Nate Robinson of the Mansfield CCC camp in a five round melee tonight.

Carbetta will return for the feature against LeRoy Jackson, 1940 Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament flyweight novice champion in a five-rounder.

As soon as Getz notified Russ Gimbel, district AAU director that the lads would not appear for the fight, the latter contacted Johnny Papke, Cleveland trainer, and Sam Otis, director of the Eastern AAU district.

Papke, to make up for the postponement of the card last night, will bring Glover, Jackson, and two other youngsters.

The other lads are Johnny Peters, 118, who will meet Mel McKinley, and Henry Jackson, 135, who goes out to meet Bob Miller, 135, of Loudonville. Both fights are three-round affairs.

The Glover-Robinson tussle should be a wild one. Glover is advancing by leaps and bounds in Cleveland circles and Robinson has been anxious to clash with him for several months.

Glover will spot Robinson three or four pounds, but the 1940 Cleveland Golden Gloves champion is favored to win the match.

* * *

The balance of the program will be the same as announced in yesterday's News-Journal.

Fights In Show Here Tonight

Beauford Glover, former Mansfield lightweight, and the only lad from this city to win a Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament championship, will come back tonight to fight in one of the five-round matches on the Saprano-Doehla Athletic club card. He will meet Nate Robinson, a rugged mittster from the Mansfield CCC camp. Paul Carbetta, who was to be in the feature bout of the show which was postponed last night after the Cleveland fighters were in an automobile accident, will tangle with LeRoy Jackson, 1940 Cleveland Golden Gloves novice flyweight champion, in the main event. The show is scheduled to start at 8 p. m. today.

Laubie Mainstay of Whippets' Attack

By JOHN GRAY.

SHELBY—Unless Mansfield can stop Fullback Bob Laubie, Shelby high football boosters feel sure that the Whippets will defeat the Tygers when the annual grid battle is staged at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the W. W. Skiles athletic field here.

* * *

Laubie, who is expected to be picked on the all-North Central Ohio conference honorary team, has gained more than half of the yardage compiled by the Whippets from scrimmage this season.

* * *

Besides running the ball, Laubie is a good passer and kicker. His kicks averages more than 40 yards and have gone out on the one and two-yard markers. Laubie, who is only a junior this year, weighs 165 pounds and is six-foot tall.

His running mate is Junior Bonecutter, a junior star.

Shelby has one of its toughest teams developed by Coach William Query, who has brought the Whippets ties for two championships in the N. C. O. in the past three seasons. Scarlet and grey teams tied for the championship in 1938 and this year.

So far the Whippets have only lost one game out of eight contests. This was to Marion, defending champ of 1939 season and co-winner of the conference this year. Marion beat Shelby, 19 to 6.

Shelby high has defeated Ashland, 7 to 6, a team that upset Mansfield by a 7 to 6 score; and Bucyrus, Willard, Norwalk, Galion, Mt. Vernon and Crestline.

Although a strong offensive team, the Whippets are weak defensively. Outstanding on defensive line play is big John Hazelwood, right tackle, who has blocked a number of punts this year as well as stopping the opposition's plays before they can get started.

* * *

Coach William Query announced today that he would use the starting line that is made up of eight veterans of last season. They are Laubie, Bonecutter, Quarterback Bill Daugherty and Bob Ernsberger, right halfback, in the backfield and Richard Whitney and Charles Till, ends; Ted Rosenberry and Hazelwood, tackles; Dean Hunter and Paul Hartz, guards; and Tom Stock, center, on the line.

Marquette Star Leading Grid Ground Gainer

Richardson Soars From 12th to First Place With Sensational Play Last Week.

SEATTLE—(AP)—Jimmy Richardson, the "one man gang" from Milwaukee's Marquette university, soared from 12th to first place as the nation's leading gridiron ground gainer with his sensational showing against Manhattan in last week's 45-41 track meet.

Figures released by the American Football Statistical bureau show that it was no fault of Richardson's that his team lost.

All he did against Manhattan was run the ball 175 yards and pass it 183 for a total of 358 yards of his team's 409 yard net.

His total of 1,055 yards for six games placed him ahead of a couple of 1939 leaders—Johnny Knolla of Creighton and Paul Christman of Missouri. Knolla ranks second with 968 yards and Christman rose from eighth to third by boosting his total offensive yardage to 980.

Al Ghesquiere of Detroit retained his lead as the top rusher with 752 yards in seven games, substantially topping Tom Harmon with 613.

With snow disrupting the airmail, no figures were received on Princeton's passing Dave Allerdice, so on the basis of five games he drops to second place as a pass-offensive threat and Washington State college's wiry Bill Sewell ascends to top position.

Owen Price of Texas Mines retained his punting lead although figures were unavailable on his last game.

The situation is so obvious that Phil Wrigley doesn't take advantage of the opportunity, Cincinnati fans believe he'd better devote himself exclusively to the chewing gum business.

Here is 40-year-old Jimmy Wilson, hero of the Reds' world series triumph, and there are the Cubs, needing a new manager. Jimmy has qualifications and what's more, he can get references from his present employers.

General Manager Warren C. Giles of the world champions says: "The Cubs would get as good as they come if they made Jimmy manager."

Giles said he told Jimmy as recently as three weeks ago that if an opportunity like that ever came along, jump to it.

* * *

Jimmy would take to Chicago the fruit of 18 major league years, most of them as one of the top-flight catchers of the National league, five as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and three as coach and stand-in catcher for the Reds.

* * *

Among his more notable contributions to the sport was the metamorphosis of Bucky Walters from a third-baseman to a pitcher. He might do something similar for the Cubs.

"FOUNTAIN" TOOTH BRUSH.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(U.P.)—Two Atlanta merchants, A. G. Summer and L. R. Hill, have invented a "fountain" tooth brush, and now are planning its manufacture. The composition handle of the brush contains a week's supply of a liquid dentifrice, and is refillable.

Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Chicago Cubs for two years, has been released. The Cubs had a poor season in 1940, finishing in the second division.

OHIO STATE GRAD SIGNS WITH COLUMBUS ELEVEN

COLUMBUS—Bo Cowell, Ohio State university's cross-country team captain, winner of the 10,000 meter championship at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin and more recently the "Most Valuable Citizen" of the Buckeye squad, was signed today as an end on the Columbus team of the American professional football league team. He is a graduate of Ohio State.

Automotive Supplies Meet Carrollton Indians Sunday

The Mansfield semi-pro aggregation tangles with the strong Carrollton Indians in a tilt scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Mansfield, early this season held the Indians to a 6-6 deadlock at Carrollton and will be out Sunday to chalk up victory No. 3.

Carrollton comes here, with a lineup studded with high school coaches and erstwhile college players. It was the only Ohio semi-pro team to hold the Akron Awnings to one touchdown last season.

With a week of rest behind them, the Supply players are in excellent physical condition for the melee and are confident of turning back the invaders.

BOWLING SCORES

Bowling with the Orange Street Cafe team in the City Class A league, Phillipon pounded out a 655 for individual scoring honors.

Carl started out with 194, added a 214 in the middle session and finished with a 247. He led his team to three wins over the Olde Town Keglers. The Cafe team hit 1015 in the final game.

Other Mansfield keglers in the 600 mark were J. Reed, 624 and Chester Moder, 617. Reed had a 255 game in his series. E. James of the Reed team in the Westinghouse C League took a thrill but might when (Continued on Page 13)

Helmets To Tin Hats For These Gridders

Luckily for the coach of the Ottawa university, Ottawa, Kan., football team that the grid season ends before Nov. 25. For no less than five of the team's players are members of the Kansas National Guard and will be mobilized at that time. The boys already are trying on their tin hats.

Grid Briefs

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio State football team, at full strength following a two-weeks' rest, entrained today for Champaign, where they will meet the University of Illinois in a Big Ten game Saturday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich —(INS)— The once defeated University of Michigan eleven slated its last heavy workout today and hoped its new offensive formations would batter the Northwestern defense when the two squads meet in Ann Arbor Saturday in a Big Ten game. The Saturday tussle will be the last home tilt for Michigan's all-American back, Tom Harmon.

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones Pitt back famed for the accuracy of his passing attack was receiving special attention from Panther coaches today in preparation for Saturday's tilt with Nebraska's Cornhuskers The mid-western team was expected to arrive here early tomorrow

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Duquesne University's Dukes were the toast of the campus today upon completion of their 2,500-mile trek to the west coast during which they licked the powerful St. Marys' Gaels 7 to 6 in an upset A crowd of 5,000 leather-lunged students crowded the station to greet the triumphant eleven

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal. (INS)— The Stanford Indians, only unbeaten and untied coast conference football team polished off their defense today for the Saturday invasion of tough little Oregon State.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Nebraska's Cornhuskers enroute to Pittsburgh for Saturday's meeting with the Panthers, were to mix business with pleasure in Chicago today After being feted by local Nebraska alumni at a luncheon, the football players were to repair to Soldier Field for a workout and then continue the eastward journey.

EVANSTON, Ill. —(INS)— Preparation of an offense capable of opening Michigan's stalwart defense was the task occupying Northwestern's Wildcats today as they worked out for Saturday's invasion of Ann Arbor. The squad will have a potent attacking force ready for the game, with Bill De Correvont, Red Hanenstein, Paul Soper, Tuffy Chambers, and Don Clawson, all ready to match tricks with Tommy Harmon, Bob Westfall & Co.

NOTRE DAME, Ind. —(INS)— Although Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame's all-American halfback candidate, is expected to play against Iowa this week, he may see only limited action, it appeared today Juzwik aggravated some old injuries against Navy last week which are healing slowly.

ITHACA N Y. —(INS)— Indications today were that Cornell will have Kirk Hershey and Mike Ruddy available for action at left end and at blocking back respectively for Saturday's meeting with Dartmouth. The squad will depart after today's drill

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Undefeated Georgetown will hold a light indoor practice today before leaving tonight for Boston to meet the powerful Boston college eleven Saturday

CLUB HEARS TALK ON CRIME

Atty. Marshall Moore spoke on "Crime and the Youth Problem" at the regular meeting of the Optimist club held at the Mansfield Leland hotel yesterday noon.

After a short introductory talk, Atty. Moore played phonograph records made by prominent crime authorities dealing with the youth problem in relation to crime. Fred Holl was chairman of the meeting.

TOWNSEND AND DIETRICH TO SPEAK AT BANQUET

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus will pay homage to its high school football team co-champions of the North Central Ohio league, when a banquest is held next Monday night at St. John's Reformed church.

Speakers will include Ernie Godfrey, line coach at Ohio State university, H R Townsend commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic association and E N Dietrich state director of education and former Bucyrus schools superintendent Arrangements for the banquet are in charge of the board of education.

CROP COUNTRY

RALEIGH, N C —(UP)— The State Department of Agriculture claims North Carolina is the only state in the union which produces all crops grown in both southern and northern sections of the United States.

Portsmouth, Toledo Waite to Play Charity Game Nov. 25

PORTSMOUTH —(AP)— Portsmouth high school will have a chance Nov 25 to avenge last year's defeat by Toledo Waite in the "Buckeye Bowl' football game in Columbus.

Officials of the two schools have agreed on a post-season charity game in Toledo on that date.

* * *

For Coach Paul Jenkins' Portsmouth squad the game will be the third in 10 days Both teams have tilts on Thanksgiving day, only four days before the scheduled charity contest.

Toledo football fans and Waite officials expressed pleasure at the signing of Portsmouth as Waite's opponent.

"Our relations with Portsmouth have always been pleasant," George Pearsall Waite faculty manager, said. "We are happy to have Portsmouth chosen to play here."

Kenneth (Jack) Mollenkopf, Waite coach, declared "We had a great battle with Portsmouth in the Buckeye Bowl last November and we expect another great ball game here."

* * *

Both teams have won eight and lost one game this season. Portsmouth bowing to a Durham, N. C., high school, and Waite to powerful Massillon

Wilson Happy With Reds

Cincy Coach Not Making Bid To Pilot Chicago Cubs.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Jimmy Wilson, 40-year-old member of Cincinnati's championship baseball team, says he is "very happy" with the Reds and is not making a bid to pilot the Chicago Cubs.

Asked if he was a candidate for the job left vacant by Chicago's dismissal of Gabby Hartnett, Wilson said:

"I would certainly give the matter deep consideration if I were approached but I certainly am not going to make any bid for the job. My connections and position with Cincinnati are the finest I am not only very happy there but more than satisfied with all arrangements.

* * *

"It is my belief that the Cubs have already selected a manager. It is usual in such cases for a president to make his choice of a successor before he releases the incumbent."

* * *

Wilson, one-time manager of the Phils, was linked to the job after he made a business trip to Chicago a week ago.

Cub Fans Nominate Wilson And Meyer for Manager

CHICAGO —(AP)— The man most likely to succeed Gabby Hartnett as Chicago manager? Cub fandom and observers say it's either Jimmy Wilson or Billy Meyer.

They digested yesterday's sudden announcement that Hartnett was fired after 19 years with the Cubs as catcher and manager, slept on a formal statement by Owner P. K. Wrigley, woke up today reflecting on several new turns in the baseball world, then based their nominations on:

* * *

1. The report that Jimmy Wilson, catcher and world series hero with the Cincinnati Reds, already had reached an agreement with the Cubs following a surprise visit here last week.

2. A remark by Wrigley, who responded to a statement that Wilson would "make a good manager," by saying "I think so too."

3 The fact that a few days ago Billy Meyer, Kansas City manager, received permission from his employers, the New York Yankees, to negotiate for a major league position.

4. Other Wrigley assertions that "there are major and minor leaguers on the list," and "I don't want to be accused of tampering as all the men we've in mind are under contract."

Wrigley promised only that the new man would be picked before the winter baseball meetings starting Dec. 4.

* * *

As for Hartnett Wrigley said "we are not blaming Hartnett - he has done everything he could, but we feel it is up to us to try and keep on trying to get the best possible combination of personnel to produce the best possible results."

PLANS ELECTION

Delano Lodge To Nominate New Officers Saturday.

Membership of Delano lodge, comprised of workers at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, will meet Saturday to place in nomination the names of members for election of officers to serve during 1941.

Nominees will be voted upon Nov. 23, the polls to be open all day at the lodge hall on Bowman street. New officers will be installed at the first meeting in January.

Nominations Saturday will be made for president, vice president, recording secretary, financial secretary, treasurer, journal agent, and to the board of trustees.

Present officers are Howard Leech, president; William Bell, vice president; L. W. Hunter, recording secretary; Jack Francis, financial secretary; Garry Jacobs, treasurer, and Harry Boyer, journal agent.

Members of the board of trustees are C. E. Crowell, Al Richards and Jack Francis.

PROSPECT CUBS TO ORGANIZE

Final organization meeting of the cub Boy Scout pack at Prospect school will be held in the school next Friday at 7:30 p. m., D. D. Montoya, assistant Johnny Appleseed area executive, announced today.

The setting of time and place for the cub meetings and other organization problems will be discussed at the meeting, which will be attended by the pack committee, "den" mothers, and "den" chiefs. Paul Bush, cubmaster, will be in charge.

Approximately 35 cubs have enrolled in the new pack, according to O. A. Redhair, chairman of the pack committee.

NEW JAP CLOTH

TOKYO, Japan—(INS)—Necessity being the mother of invention, Japan has a new cloth this season. It is made of horse hair and is said to rival woolen goods for clothing. The new invention is the brain child of Professor Massatoshi Sasukawa of the Kogoshima Forestry college. It calls for the mixing of old woolen materials with horse hair and silk. Fifty per cent horsehair; 40 per cent wool and 10 per cent silk.

GIVE PLAY AT ASSEMBLY HOUR

A one-act play and three amateur vaudeville acts were presented by pupils of Johnny Appleseed Junior high school yesterday at an assembly program held in the Johnny Appleseed auditorium.

The amateur acts included a piano solo by Lynn Decker, a tap dance by Betty Jean Wynn, and a vocal solo by George Knaedstedt.

Those who acted in the one-act play were Kitty Bushnell, Margaret Walery, Glenn Wendland, George Vawter and Robert Miller. Production assistants were Mary Simon, Delores Faust, Joyce Hubbs and Gretchen Bowland.

It has been estimated 9,000 earthquakes occur annually.

UNITED IN AIR

OXFORD, Pa.—(U.P.)—Mary Sappington, 25, of Annapolis, went up for her first airplane ride and came down a bride. The Rev. William F. Hopkins, Elkton, Md., married her to George Pumphrey, 30, a truck driver. They did it "just to be different."

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Aunt Ida's Baking Ideas —

QUESTION-MARK INSTEAD OF CANDLES is a good idea for the birthday cake of an oldster who'd rather keep age a secret. . . . Color some uncooked frosting (make it thick) and use this for a question-mark on top of the white-frosted cake. . . . Be sure you make your cake with Rumford Baking Powder — the double-acting, all-phosphate baking powder that contains no alum — never leaves a bitter taste. You can use Rumford in any good recipe in the amount the directions call for. Rumford is right for every recipe every time. . . . Send for FREE recipe book. CLOTH OF GOLD CAKE

CLOTH OF GOLD CAKE

Recipe developed by Pillsbury's Cooking Service
MARY ELLIS AMES, Director
(This recipe makes two 9-inch layers.)

TEMPERATURE: 375° F. TIME: about 25 minutes

2⅔ cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST Flour
2½ teaspoons Double Acting baking powder OR 3 teaspoons Single Acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
1¾ cups sugar
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon juice

1. Sift flour once, measure; add baking powder and salt; sift together three times.
2. Cream shortening until light; add sugar gradually; cream together until fluffy.
3. Add eggs, one at a time; beat about one minute after each addition.
4. Add dry ingredients alternately with combined liquids; mix well after each addition; beat well after last addition only.
5. Turn into greased, lined layer pans. Bake in moderate oven until done.
6. When cold, frost with a seven-minute pineapple frosting, made by substituting pineapple juice for water.

IT'S A GRAND CAKE. Make it with Pillsbury's Best, so you'll know how grand it really can be!

It takes a fine musician to get everything out of a piece of music—and it takes a fine flour to make the most of a fine recipe! Pillsbury spends thousands of dollars extra every year for the finest wheats in America, in order to give you a flour that will turn every one of your recipes into a work of art. Yet you pay only a few pennies more for this extra wheat quality, and for the extra care in milling, that gives you so much extra satisfaction from your baking.

If you've never used this fine flour, you have a treat in store for you. Ask your grocer for Pillsbury's Best!

VALUABLE PREMIUMS: Save the THRIFT STARS which are packed in your bag of Pillsbury's Best Flour, and with other Pillsbury products. They are redeemable for women's fine silk hosiery, silverware, towel sets, boy's and girl's wrist watches, and other valuable merchandise. For free booklet showing all the premiums, write Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, Dept. 113, Minneapolis, Minnesota.
